CANADA SIGNS PACT WITH U. S. AS FREE NATION

Rejects British Domination.

Ottawa, Ont., March 6.—[Special.]—The first time in her history Canada has completed a treaty with a foreign nation without the intervention of the British government and without a representative of the London foreign office attaching his signature to the document.

The convention between the United States and the Dominion of Canada, one of the last documents to be placed before the congress which came to an end on Saturday, bore the signatures of Secretary of State Hughes for the American government and of Ernest Lapointe, minister of marine and fisheries of Canada, for the Dominion government. The fact marks a step forward in the progress of Canada towards free and independent nationhood and the step was not accomplished without a struggle with Downing street.

U. S. Emergency Call.

Mr. Lapointe received an emergency message from Ottawa last week to proceed direct from an electioneering trip in western Ontario to Washington. Washington was anxious that the treaty which concerns the regulation of the halibut fisheries on the Pacific coast be concluded in time for ratification by the coming congress.

The terms of the treaty were agreed upon two months ago, but the determination of Prime Minister King and his government that Canada should act alone in making treaties led to strong opposition from London, and Ambassador Sir Auckland Geddes succeeded in having the completion of the treaty delayed.

When Mr. Lapointe left Toronto for Washington he carried with him instructions from Mr. King, backed by the cabinet at Ottawa that the signature of the Canadian representative was alone to go on the document with that of Secretary Hughes. He was instructed to inform Sir Auckland Geddes to that effect and to refuse to allow the treaty to be signed by the ambassador of Great Britain on behalf of Canada.

Downing House.
On arrival at Washington Mr. Lapointe was met at the train by members of the embassy staff, who took him directly to the British ambassador's official residence. There he was told that Mr. Bonar Law had bowed to the necessity of the case and had overruled the Duke of Devonshire, secretary of state for the colonies, who was firm in insisting that the treaty be concluded along traditional lines, with the British representative signing on behalf of Canada.

An intimation to this effect, Mr. Lapointe was told, had been conveyed to Secretary of State Hughes. Mr. Hughes at the moment was closeted with the President at the White House and informed Mr. Harding that the British government recognized Canada's right to make or disavow its own agreements and treaties with foreign powers. Therefore the document when presented to the senate for ratification would not bear the signature of Sir Auckland Geddes.

Signatures Are Made.
The following day the signatures of Mr. Lapointe and Secretary Hughes were attached to the treaty, which brings into force a convention regarding closed seasons and other regulations governing the halibut fisheries off the Pacific coast of Canada and the United States.

The firm stand taken by the King government has resulted in a break in the traditions of British dealings with its self governing dominions and marks a definite emergence from the state of dependency in which Canada, together with Australia, South Africa and New Zealand hitherto have been held.

The facts of the case are only just beginning to be realized, although Premier King in an official statement issued from his Ottawa office announcing the completion of the treaty stated that it was significant that the Canadian minister was the sole signatory on behalf of the Dominion. The subject will be discussed this week in the house of commons and a debate on the subject is expected to bring forth some definite statement by the government announcing their reasons for the stand they have taken and the end which they had in view.

TURK ASSEMBLY REJECTS PEACE TREATY, REPORT

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, March 7, 4 a. m.—A message from Constantinople, received in London this morning, says the Turkish national assembly decided yesterday that the draft of the treaty drawn up at Lausanne is not acceptable, as it is contrary to the national pact.

The government was authorized to continue negotiations for peace. The resolution provides that:
The Mosul question be settled within a provisional period.
Financial, economic, and administrative questions must be settled in accordance with complete independence of the nation.
The occupied territories must be evacuated rapidly after the signature of peace.

Fear Turk-Greek Break.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 6.—Negotiations on the refugee question between Athens and Constantinople are proceeding, but the belligerence of the two governments is causing concern and possibly may cause an outbreak of trouble at any time.

Four Unmasked Men Seize And Take Away Physician

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 6.—Returning home tonight from a professional call, Dr. B. Cheston Goldberg, a physician, was overpowered by four unmasked men who carried him away in a motor car.

The physician reported to the police that he heard him cry out. She said she ran outside and saw the men beating him about the face and head.
"Keep quiet or we'll kill you," one of the men warned her husband, she said.
No trace of Dr. Goldberg had been found late tonight.

Annoys Anne Morgan; Southerner Faces Inquiry

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—A man giving the name of Robert Wedekind, 52, and his home as Louisville, Ky., reported to be a wealthy plantation owner in that vicinity, was committed to Bellevue hospital for observation by Magistrate Simms. Wedekind was arrested, it is reported, on complaint of the J. P. Morgan family. The detectives claim Wedekind has been trying to interview Miss Anne Morgan.

Shoots Down His Friend After Quarrel in Cafe

Peter Callos, 35 years old, 407 East 35th street, was shot through the left temple early this morning by William Kirkills in the Marathon restaurant, 530 South Halsted street. Callos is not expected to live. Kirkills, who owns a restaurant at 937 West Harrison street, insisted he and Callos were good friends, and would give no reason for having shot him, except that they had had a quarrel.

FOSTER-FATHER KIRBY IS SUED

Ward from Evanston Finds Love for Her Cooled.

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—John Henry Kirby of Houston, Tex., president of the Kirby Lumber company, a $10,000,000 corporation, and lumber administrator of the Emergency Fleet corporation during the war, was sued today by a young woman who says she was formerly his stenographer.

The young woman had her name changed to Kirby in Chicago in 1918 in order that she might travel with him and be his constant companion, and had it changed back to the original in the New York Supreme court in 1921 at his request.

The complaint filed in the Supreme court by Olga Ralph, through her attorney, Bennett M. Siegelstein, alleges that $4,000 is due her under an agreement made March 15, 1922, by which she was to get $6,000 cash and $500 a month for life. She says he's paid the $6,000, but owes eight monthly payments.

The papers were served on Mr. Kirby's attorney, E. G. Budington, who has not yet filed an answer. Mr. Kirby lives at the Waldorf-Astoria when in the city. Miss Ralph, who is about 30 years old, makes her home at the Plaza, her attorney said.

Club Member in New York.

In addition to his prominence in business and financial circles Mr. Kirby is a member of the Manhattan club in New York and of social organizations in Chicago and the south. His wife was Lella Stewart of Woodville, Texas. He has one daughter, Mrs. James Schuyler Stewart of Amsterdam, N. Y.

He was president of the Trans-Mississippi commercial congress in 1903 and president of the Texas World's fair commission in 1904. He was appointed a regent of the University of Texas in 1910. He has been credited with attracting $100,000,000 of capital into Texas to develop the natural resources of the state.

ONCE LIVED IN EVANSTON.

It is recalled that Miss Kirby (or Miss Ralph) was an Evanstonian. While living here she studied voice culture under Mrs. Arimond. Mr. Kirby was then her patron and was said to be paying for her music training.

While in Evanston her name was changed to Kirby in the courts here at the wish of the Texas millionaire.

GIRL'S FEVER, 118, WRECKS SPECIAL THERMOMETER

Escanaba, Mich., March 6.—Efforts to take the temperature today of Miss Evelyn Lyons, whose strange case has baffled science by her retention for two weeks of a temperature of 114 degrees, failed today when the attending physician's thermometer broke.
Miss Lyons complained to Dr. H. F. Defnet that she felt more feverish. Medical thermometers are not graduated above 114 degrees, but Dr. Defnet attempted to take the girl's temperature with one which has been equipped with emergency markings above that point.

The attempt failed when the expanding mercury reached the top of the tube and blew the end off. Dr. Defnet estimated the girl's temperature today at 118 degrees.

Despite her strange malady the girl remains rational, with a good appetite and resents orders to remain in bed. She is being closely watched since she disappeared last week and was found later lying in a snowbank in an alley, where she explained, she had gone to cool off.

Mussolini to Be Given "Cousin of King" Order

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

TRUDE MAKES SECRET CHECK OF VICE ZONES

Chief's Blockade Is On in Earnest.

As Chicago's disorderly resorts passed under a police blockade installed last night by Chief of Police Fitzmorris with a special detail of 145 patrolmen, investigators in the employ of a group of citizens were checking up the number of so-called protected vice places listed to be closed by the captains in the various districts.

Judge Daniel P. Trude of the Moral court, the only one of those behind this secret investigation whose identity could be ascertained, refused to reveal the names of those associated with him in the inquiry, but announced it had been under way for several days and that he, personally, had made one nocturnal excursion into the south side badlands to survey conditions.

Cuts Down Quotas.

Greeting with silence the criticisms of reform organizations, Chief Fitzmorris went quietly ahead to carry out his sweeping plan of picketing every disorderly place. Immediately the captains of five districts asked for 304 additional patrolmen to perform this special duty, but, by careful pruning, the chief had cut this first draft down to 145 men last night. More men will be added as necessary demands.

The requests of the commanding officers, together with the number of extra men granted by the chief, are summed up in the following tabulation:

Asks.	Grants.
Station street.....	40
Des Plaines street.....	30
Cottage Grove avenue.....	40
Chicago avenue.....	30
South Clark street.....	15

Pilkington Asks More Men.

Capt. Thomas J. Pilkington of the Warren avenue station asked for thirty extra men late in the afternoon and a detail probably will be allotted to that district this morning.

Capt. Morgan Collins of the Chicago avenue district sent a letter to the chief stating that it would take at least 300 patrolmen to shut all suspected places in that territory absolutely tight, but that, knowing what a drain this would be upon the forces in the residential districts, he would be modest in his demands for the present and ask for only thirty men.

Drawn from Suburbs.

To meet the requests of the captains in the bad lands, Chief Fitzmorris drew from seven to ten men from each of the following districts: Grand Crossing, Hyde Park, Burnside, Hegewach, Kensington, Graham, Englewood, Stockyards, New City, Brighton Park, Marquette, Lawndale, Fillmore, West Chicago avenue, West North avenue, Austin, Cragin, Irving Park, North Robey street, Sumnerdale, and Rogers Park.

Some sixty patrolmen had been stationed by the various captains earlier in the day in front of the most notorious places on the south side and in the Des Plaines and Warren avenue districts. But in many instances, investigators for the Juvenile Protective association reported, the presence of the police was not necessary at all, the divekeepers having received the news Monday night and voluntarily closed their doors.

Miss Blinford Gratiified.

"It certainly is gratifying to hear of the action of Chief Fitzmorris," said Miss Jessie Blinford, head of the association, "and if these places are kept closed we shall have no further complaint to make. It is just what we have been trying for two years to get the chief to do. We do not want him to take such steps as will leave any part of the city unprotected as far as other forms of crime are concerned and we do not believe it is necessary to use many policemen in the work."

"Our investigators were out Sunday night and these places were running wide open. Last night, less than 24 hours after the order had gone out, they found these places shut tight. And there wasn't a single policeman on guard. Now if they will follow these vice lords up, see where they move their places to, and keep them closed, the commercialized vice interests will be forced to leave Chicago."

Statement by Smoot.

Attorney Harry E. Smoot, counsel for the association, declared there were only two resorts in the whole city in his estimation where the presence of policemen was necessary at both the front and rear doors. These, he said, were the notorious places on South Michigan avenue conducted by Violet Phipps and Claudia Woods, both of whose places have been raided time and again and both of whom are in jail.

BONAR LAW SEES WAR IF BRITISH HINDER FRANCE

LONDON, March 6.—[By the Associated Press.]—The debate in the house of commons tonight on affairs in the Ruhr reflected the strong growing feeling against the government's attitude of benevolent neutrality.

France plainly takes a definite stand, not necessarily withdrawing her troops from the Rhine, but in forming a formal note that England disapproves of the French policy and demands that the French government explicitly define its intentions toward Germany.

Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the laborites, moved a resolution that with a view to securing peace, England should invite the French and Belgian chambers to appoint representative committees to meet a similar committee of the house of commons to exchange views on the occasion to exchange views on the occupation of the Ruhr and the problems of security and reparations.

Bonar Law Agrees; Halts Vote.

Mr. Bonar Law maintained his previous position that the time was not ripe for intervention; that such a move would be regarded as hostile to France, and that the government was not prepared to assume that responsibility.

The prime minister declared France had gained nothing by her Ruhr adventure; on the contrary, she had sustained a heavy loss and it was impossible to prophesy the outcome. He admitted that the government had nothing it could propose to the house.

Fears Break With France.

Mr. Bonar Law argued that it was not a question of M. Poincare or his government. Evidence indicated that with the present French chamber any French government would have been impelled to the same course. Clearly the French policy was supported by both chambers and the French people; therefore the British government had no alternative before it.

Three times only two courses, the prime minister continued—to accept the Ruhr advance with the greatest amount of friendly feeling possible or to break faith and make the two countries practically hostile.

To himself it seemed inevitable that to break the empire would mean the possibility of enforcing England's will on France by war. At this moment France would deeply resent any attempt at mediation. The government had disassociated itself from the French action, but did not desire to quarrel with France if it could possibly be avoided.

BERLIN READY TO ACT THROUGH THIRD NATION

Cuno Scorns Direct Offer to France.

BULLETIN.
COBLENZ, March 6.—The inter-allied Rhineland commission has ordered 129 additional persons expelled from occupied territory.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, March 6.—A dispatch to the Times from Strasbourg says the railway station and tracks at Kehl have been occupied by the French because German railway men refused to aid in the moving of railway material.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
BERLIN, March 6.—[Tribune Radio.]—Germany will not enter direct negotiations with France for the settlement of the reparations question.

Chancellor Cuno told the special session of the reichstag this afternoon in a speech lasting an hour and a half, in which he detailed every act of violence since the occupation of the Ruhr. He German's ready for the intervention of a third party if an agreement has been reached.

Herr Cuno issued more than an appeal to the nations which signed the treaty of Versailles to intervene in Germany's behalf. He demanded such action and cried shame on England and America for standing idle while the French violate German freedom.

German Standing Alone.

Twice Herr Cuno pictured Germany as standing alone while the nations who as signatories of the Versailles pact guaranteed its terms with respect to both sides remain aloof.

The chancellor created a sensation among the parties of the left when reading his statement that Germany was still ready for international negotiations he added the sentence: "Away with all talk of negotiations."

Party leaders asserted this was not in the text as shown them last night and which was printed in all the German papers this afternoon. This phrase met with distinct approval from the right, but caused some disappointment among the Socialists, who had expected a firmer offer to come to terms.

Tells of New French Advance.

Herr Cuno began his address by detailing the newest French advances into Germany and calling attention to the ordinances threatening death to railway workers remaining on a strike should fatal accidents occur on the lines. For a solid hour he talked of French acts in the Ruhr, pointing out the troubles and violence.

The chancellor told the Germans that in the face of French aggression they had only one arm—passive resistance—which he urged be kept up. He asserted many of the passive measures had not been dictated by the government, but were spontaneous acts on the part of the population of the oppressed districts.

"Tanks and machine guns are senseless when there is no one opposed. A sword stroke will cut air," he declared. "Germany is without arms in the true sense of the word, but it has one strong defensive weapon—that is the strong will of free men who oppose violence in obedience to justice. Guns and dynamite may be good for the destruction of factories and

IRISH AT DAWN OF BETTER DAY, O'HIGGINS SAYS

Iron Handed Free Stater
Takes Collins' Job Well.

BY JOHN STEELE.
DUBLIN, March 6.—[Tribune Radio.]—When Ireland lost Michael Collins, murdered by Republicans, it seemed its strong man and made up its mind he could not be replaced. Ireland is being ruled today by a man who is strong, though of a different mentality and outlook. This man is Kevin O'Higgins, minister of home affairs of the Free State government, whose dauntless courage, doggedness, and determination the Free State owes the fact that it has made good.

Mr. O'Higgins, like all chiefs of the new Irish nation, is a young man of little more than 30, but he learned his lessons in the stern school of war and he is no less relentless in dealing with the domestic enemies of Ireland's ordered progress than he was in dealing with external enemies during the fight with England.

Nephew of "Tim" Healy.
Mr. O'Higgins has traditions and heredity behind him. He is a nephew of "Tim" Healy, the stormy petrel of Ireland's politics and now governor general and representative of the king in the Free State.

I had a long talk with Mr. O'Higgins this morning in the office of the government building, where he lives practically the life of a prisoner. More than any other minister, he is hated by the Republicans, who realize that he is their most dangerous and effective enemy. His life has been threatened more frequently than any of his colleagues, and Mary MacSwiney referred to him in captured correspondence as "that beast, Kevin O'Higgins."

Must Give Up Arms.
"We stand absolutely on the terms of unconditional submission to the will of the Irish nation and the surrender of arms," Mr. O'Higgins said. "The time is the natural corollary of the other. If the men now in arms against the state and accept the will of the people, for what will they want more? To shoot crows? No, to shoot men."

"It is absurd to split metaphysical hairs about the right to bear arms. If we recognize it, we could set no limit on armament, and the country would wake up some fine morning to find that it had no executive, no general headquarters, and no police, and itself under the heels of an armed junta determined to impose its will on the people."

"Eamon de Valera has a great responsibility. He has caused pain, loss, and ruin for many, but he has accomplished nothing. I doubt if in all history anything equals his betrayal of Michael Collins."

Some Secret History.
And here Mr. O'Higgins gave some hitherto secret history of the pre-treaty negotiations and debate among the Irish leaders.

"Mr. Collins was not willing to go to England for the treaty discussion, believing that his best work could be accomplished at home," Mr. O'Higgins continued. "Mr. de Valera insisted that he go, declaring that the British would not make their best offer in his absence. After that declaration Mr. Collins consented to go and the moment he turned his back Mr. de Valera began his intrigues against him. However, Mr. Collins was not deceived. He eluded capture for weeks or even months, but we will get him in the end, and we know now that his followers are disintegrating and are divided."

"The best fighting men among the honest republicans have thrown up their hands, recognizing the hopelessness of their cause. Those who remain are quarreling within their ranks, and they are wavering from day to day from the isolated republic to democracy."

Police Lead Way.
"The republic is at an end and Ireland is now entering a new era of restoration of law and the settling down to a normal life. The brightest spots are the establishment of the police and judicial systems. Our new civil guard—the police—is making good. We have 2,000 now out in the country, but the full establishment is 4,000, and that is nearly 2,000 less than the old Royal Irish constabulary."

"We have also established our own summary judicial system. The old English system has been dropped, and we have appointed two-dozen paid district justices, all whom are lawyers and whose districts roughly are the

THEY CAN'T AGREE

MRS. KATHRYN ANDERSON.

IN COURT TODAY

Temperament, a baby, bills, an automobile, and too many "in-laws," all are woven into the tangled romance which will be aired in the Domestic Relations court this morning when Fred R. Anderson and his wife, Kathryn, are arraigned on disorderly conduct charges. It will be their first step through the portals of the divorce mill.

The couple agreed to marry two years ago. They have never agreed on anything since, according to the husband's father, A. H. Anderson, head of the foundry at 218 North Ann street, which bears his name. The couple lived with him at 2944 Logan boulevard. Mrs. Anderson claims she has pawned her jewelry to provide for the child. The only article missing, the husband says, is her wedding ring.

same as the counties. They are whole time officials and they spend their time traveling through the districts holding courts on stated days in each center. The system is working well."

Tribute to British.
Mr. O'Higgins discussed many other phases of the Irish development. He paid a high tribute to the British good faith in working out the treaty in spite of provocation. The governor generalship was a case in point.

"The long fellow (Irish nickname for Mr. de Valera) talked a lot about the enervating influence of the viceregal court," Mr. O'Higgins remarked. "Look at what we have got—a plain old man of Irish peasant stock with a long record in the struggle for Irish independence, who was appointed by an English Tory government. What is better evidence of good faith? But it is like all the long fellow's prophecies. All they amount to is 2,000 or 3,000 boys, his dupes, rotting their lives away in internment camps and thousands of hysterical girls degrading Irish womanhood."

"The moral damage is much worse than the material damage, which left Ireland with a burden of taxation for generations, and all for what he himself describes as a show. Mr. de Valera did all in his power to wreck the work of the great men, Griffith and Collins, but he has failed, and the work of Griffith and Collins will live when he is forgotten except in evil dreams."

"The republic is at an end and Ireland is now entering a new era of restoration of law and the settling down to a normal life. The brightest spots are the establishment of the police and judicial systems. Our new civil guard—the police—is making good. ## ARSENIC COUSINS GO ON TRIAL WITH AIR OF PEASANTS

in Klimek Case.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

Two squat, middle aged, rather wistful Polish women, with scrubbed faces and "decent black" from the neighborhood store, play hooky from their housekeeping duties, and drop in to a vaudeville show. They don't understand some of the acts, but they find a bewildered pleasure in staying until it is all over.

And that might be a picture of the two cousins, Mrs. Tillie Klimek and Mrs. Nellie Sturmer Koulik, as they went on trial yesterday before Judge Marcus Kavafagh in the Criminal court, charged with murder by arsenical poisoning of Mrs. Klimek's third husband, Frank Kupczyk, who died April 20, 1921.

Confused by Technicalities.
The women are escorted to their two seats on the aisle. Near them is Lieut. Willard L. Malone, West Chicago-avenue station. It is Lieut. Malone's investigations that are largely responsible for the presence of the cousins in the courtroom.

As a curtain raiser there is the selection of the jury. The women in black are bored and confused by the legal phraseology. But every now and then they understand a phrase, a sinister, recurrent phrase. They squirm in their seats as Assistant State's Attorney William F. McLaughlin repeats to the prospective jurors:

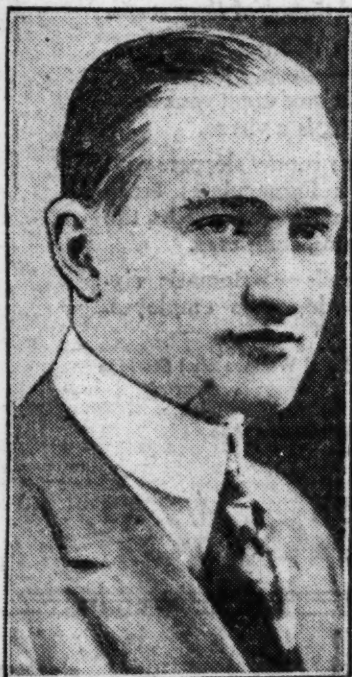

"You would punish a woman as severely as you would a man, if she were guilty, wouldn't you?"

And always, the terrifying refrain, "Yes, certainly, if she were guilty." It seems to disquiet the matinee goers.

Ladies of the Peasantry.
The cousins with the alleged penchant for adding arsenic to the "good" food which they are reported to have served Kupczyk, and more than a dozen other friends, relatives, and husbands, have created a new rôle for "ladies charged with murder."

They are without guile or the aid of hushdresser, manicure, modiste or diary. They carry no vanity box, rouge or lipstick. The upturned brims of their plain black hats are uncompromising and refuse to cast kind shadows over their faces. They don't bite their lips when in distress. They mop their brows with plain cotton handkerchiefs held in capacious hands.

Mrs. Klimek Almost Cheerful.
Mrs. Klimek, in her black near seal coat, black skirt and rigid brimmed sailor hat, is pleasant, almost cheerful, as she exchanges words with her attorney, John Frydelski, former assistant state's attorney, who is defend-

JUAREZ CLOSED TO AMERICANS; INSULTS CHARGED

El Paso, Tex., March 6.—Rigid immigration restrictions have been put into effect here against Americans by Mexican immigration authorities, and within the last three days scores of persons have been turned back.

The action follows closely complaint to Washington that American immigration officials recently took the Mexican vice consul from an auto and held up a consulate clerk who was bringing mail from Juarez to the consulate. The Mexicans charge that the American officers laughed at the clerk's consular button.

Today Melchor Magana, supervising inspector of the Mexican immigration service, charged that yesterday an American immigration agent had torn the dress of Maria V. de Miranda, a niece of Gov. Enrique de Chihuahua, and forcibly removed her from her auto.

HANDS OF DEATH

The clock of three hands registers daily the coroner's records of deaths by moonshine, guns, and autos from Jan. 1.

ing the women through an appointment by the court.

Her unyielding lips curve into a smile that verges on a giggle as an occasional impromptu act on the legal stage amuses her. For instance, it is amusing, she finds, to hear Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Peden, assisting in the prosecution, struggle with the pronunciation of some of the Polish names.

In the less diverting moments of the day, when there is implication of the death penalty being asked, Mrs. Klimek taps the sensible square toe of her soft black shoe up and down with monotonous precision.

Mrs. Koulik Less Jovial.
Mrs. Koulik, for the first time since her arrest, is less jovial than her cousin. The pathetically coquettish pearl dangling pin in her hat seems a sardonic joke on the lined face beneath the hat.

The show goes on. Four jurors are accepted. F. E. Ward, 60 West 16th street, Chicago Heights, a machine shop foreman; Frank W. Czek, 846 Lorel avenue, a printer; Otto Jung, 5024 West 23d street, Cleop, tool and die maker; William S. Schroll, 1023 North Wayne avenue, office work.

The acts for the day are over. The two women with seats on the aisle are led out, making some trivial remark about "it's too hot in here."

The cousins will be back again today. The curtain raiser will continue until all the jurors are picked. By tomorrow morning it is expected that Mrs. Klimek and Mrs. Koulik will begin to see the headlines in which they are scheduled to take prominent rôles.

Man Held for Bringing Young Girl to Chicago

Gabriel Montizuma, 21 years old, 3225 West 28th street, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $5,000 yesterday on serious charges made by a young girl. According to the police, Montizuma met Mary Orlin, 12 years old, in Benton Harbor in December. He brought her to Chicago, it is alleged, and they have been living here as man and wife.

PAROLEE MAN TO CARE FOR HORSE.
In order that he might go back to his farm and care for his thoroughbred stallion, which has not been out of the barn since he was convicted, Gov. Blaine of Wisconsin has pardoned a man serving a year for prohibition violation.

GIRL ON SKATES STUMBLES; DIES UNDER MOTOR CAR

Toll of Autos Pushed Up to 105.

Automobile accidents claimed two lives yesterday, bringing the total of motor fatalities in Cook county for the year to 105.

One of yesterday's victims, a 12 year old girl, Allene Abell, 3747 South Union avenue, fell directly in the path of an automobile driven by Herman Brant, 4635 South Winchester avenue, when she roller skated over the curb at West 38th street and Emerald avenue.

Driver Put Under Bond.
The girl was taken to St. Paul's hospital, where she died from a fractured skull. Brant will appear at an inquest this morning under bond.

Robert McCaleb, 210 North Paulina street, victim of the "vampire" automobile which struck and killed Mrs. Belle Gidson, 562 East 43d street, Jan. 25, died yesterday. McCaleb, seriously injured, crawled to his home after having been hurled to the pavement.

Cab Death Inquiry Continued.
Inquests into the deaths of Konstanty and Helen Kowalski, instantly killed Sunday night by a taxicab, were continued indefinitely yesterday by Deputy Coroner Samuel L. Davis. Maxwell street police will search for witnesses to the accident. Konstanty was 52 and his wife 50.

Nelson Cross, 1657 North Irving avenue, driver of the taxicab which struck them as they alighted from a street car at 23d and Robey streets, was released from custody pending a resumption of the inquiry.

Smoke Piled Against Cloud Bank Darkens Part of City

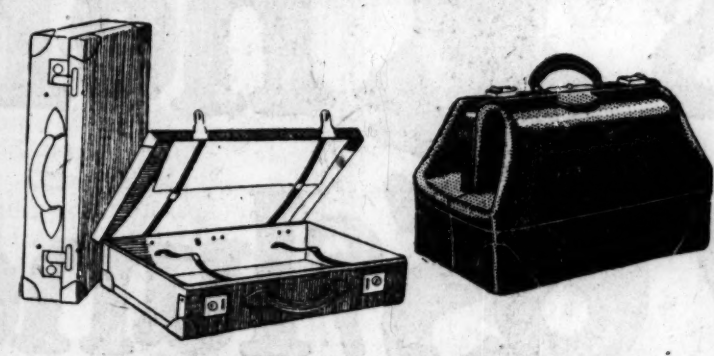

A freak mixture of smoke and cloud turned day into night in parts of the north and west sides about 9:20 a. m. yesterday. So dark was it in some places that automobile lights were unable to pierce the gloom. Prof. Cox, weather forecaster, explained that wind blowing off the lake swept the city's smoke to the west, where it piled up against a cloud bank, cutting off the sun.

EX-MATE CHARGES DIVORCE FRAUD; SUES FOR $20,000

Salesman Asks Wife's Decree Be Revoked.

Revocation of a divorce decree awarded Mrs. Helen Kelley Denman last December and damages of $20,000 for alleged alienation of her affections by Walter J. Denman, owner of the Roamer Inn, 2757 West Madison street, are sought by Thomas J. Kelley, automobile salesman, in suits filed yesterday.

Fraud and perjury in securing the divorce are charged by Kelley. Through his attorney, Frank B. Teed, he declares that after filing her suit for divorce, the then Mrs. Kelley returned to live with him after promising to dismiss her bill. The reconciliation was effected, Kelley says, after he had been induced to write a letter admitting cruelty and drunkenness.

The couple were married on Aug. 23, 1920, and on Jan. 24, 1923, Mrs. Kelley left her home for the second time. The next day she visited Kelley, according to Attorney Teed, at his office at 2803 West Lake street, and informed him that she had been married to Denman a few hours before.

"Why, I divorced you on Dec. 5," is the remark attributed to Kelley in answer to Kelley's protestations that she could not have married Denman. "You are the only one that didn't know about it. I just lived with you until I could get things squared around."

Says She Deceived Him.
Kelley charges that he has since discovered that during the first separation Mrs. Kelley had been living with Denman, while she led him to believe that she was living with an aunt. Since then, Kelley has been living at 4807 Washington boulevard.

MAKES HER 'SHUT UP' AFTER SPREE, DRAWS 30 DAYS

Ernest Gollstadt, 21, 5316 Nelson street, was given a thirty day sentence yesterday by Municipal Judge Joseph Burke after Mrs. Hattie Gollstadt threatened her life with a revolver upon returning home in an intoxicated condition.

"My husband spent the whole night somewhere drinking moonshine and got home drunk in the morning," said Mrs. Gollstadt. "When I upbraided him he aimed a revolver at me and made me shut up."

May Indict Egan Fontaine for Perjury, Blackmail

New York, March 6.—(Special).—Almost coinciding with cable dispatches from Paris announcing the marriage of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney and Marie Norton, it was reported today from New York that District Attorney Loeber has gone before the grand jury at New City to ask indictments for perjury and blackmail against Egan Fontaine, dancer, who, a year ago, brought suit for $100,000 against Whitney, alleging him to be the father of her son. It was said the evidence on which the indictments would be asked was brought out at a rehearing of the dancer's divorce suit against Whitney, alleging him to be the father of her son. ## FREE NATION OF CANADA

Canada has signed three treaties with the United States defining the uses of the fishing waters off the two countries. One treaty is for the Atlantic coast. A second concerns the Great Lakes. The third deals with the salmon and other fisheries on the Pacific coast.

This is the first time that Canada has signed an independent treaty with this country. Always before such treaties had to be signed by an official of Great Britain. In breaking away from the old tradition Canada becomes practically an independent country.

SILKEN MUFFLER IN ANOTHER'S BED STARTS DIVORCE

Who Darned It? Wife and "Rival" Dispute.

Discovery of a silk muffler on the disarranged bed of Mrs. Rose Reiter, linguist and former assistant chief of the alien income tax bureau, was cited as proof of the infidelity of Charles T. Lundstrom, wealthy loop real estate dealer, yesterday by Mrs. Augusta H. Lundstrom in a hearing of her suit for divorce before Judge Ira Ryner. They were married in August, 1921.

Ownership of the muffler was hotly disputed by Mrs. Reiter, who appeared as a witness in behalf of Lundstrom, whom she claimed was "merely a business acquaintance."

Both "Identify" It by Darning.
The muffler, Mrs. Reiter asserted, had been given to her by a friend in Kansas City, "whose name I can't remember, but I know it's my muffler, because I've mended it dozens of times." "I've mended it, too," declared Mrs. Lundstrom, who lives at 4337 Hazel avenue, "and I was with Mr. Lundstrom when he bought it." Seven witnesses identified the muffler as one worn by Lundstrom.

Watches Silhouette Embraces.
Last December Mrs. Lundstrom raided the apartment of Mrs. Reiter at 1048 Dakin street after observing the silhouette of several embraces.

"I rang the bell and was admitted by Mrs. Reiter, just in time to see Mr. Lundstrom dash madly out the rear door and down a fire escape," she said. "I found his muffler on her bed, which had been very recently occupied."

MEN'S DAY URGED IN BEAUTY SHOPS TO SEE 'EM WORK
An annex to beauty parlors where husbands may await for their wives, and men's days when the man who pays the bills may see what his wife is getting for his money were forecast last night by Miss Esther Johnson, of Mrs. Hulda's, before a meeting of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association at the Sherman hotel.

"Insist upon your husbands and sweethearts calling for you," Miss Johnson said, deprecating the masculine habit of demanding beauty but insisting that it be home grown. "Introduce them to the shops, let them see how you are taken care of."

A union of permanent wavers was also forecast, to do for women what the harbor's union has done for men, in keeping up prices. Price cutting to suit curbs for $5 for a "permanent" was met with expressions of horror.

MOFFETT POINTS TO U. S. DANGER IN WEST INDIES

New York, March 6.—Hostile forces could utilize the Bermudas as an ideal base for air bombing expeditions on eastern American sea ports, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett warned an invisible audience, tonight in an address broadcast by radio. Development of aviation, he said, had brought the menace of war to the doors of the United States, hitherto isolated from aggressive foreign powers by the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Other foreign island possessions off the Atlantic coast, he declared, could be used as air bases, particularly Jamaica, from which hostile airplanes could easily bomb and destroy the locks in the Panama canal. Fortification of Pearl Harbor, in the Hawaiian islands, he said, would protect the Pacific coast ports from such perils. The navy's first rigid dirigible, the ZR-1, will go in commission about July 1 and will visit the north and south poles as well as making an around the world trip, he concluded.

Harding Doubts Civil Service Can Aid Dry Law

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(Special).—In a letter to Richard H. Dana of New York, secretary of the National Civil Service Reform league, President Harding makes it known that he is not convinced that a proposal from the league that government employees engaged in prohibition enforcement should be placed under the protection of the civil service laws, "is the wisest step to take to promote efficient service."

"The Noiseless Route"

It's here— my 65¢ lunch

Since my opening, three weeks ago, at least fifty of my friends have said, "Roos, without question, you serve the greatest $1 dinner in Chicago today. How you can give such liberal portions, such high quality food, with such attentive service and stay in business is a mystery to us. But since you can, why don't you serve an equally famous table d'hôte lunch?"

My answer is, I can and I will. My $1 dinner has been such a tremendous success I know a similar luncheon will be equally as popular. So, starting today, I will serve between 11 and 3 o'clock a 65¢ special luncheon which I believe cannot be duplicated for the same price elsewhere. I will give a choice of six entrees. With each choice I will serve potatoes, one extra vegetable, bread and butter, and your choice of pie, pastry, and ice cream, and your choice of tea, coffee, and milk. The portions will be liberal. The food will be the same first class quality that you get with my famous $1 dinner. In fact, you will get Roos Quality and Roos Service in a wonderful table d'hôte lunch at 65¢.

Thompson's

Green Front
Grocery Stores

There isn't a solitary article I sell in my grocery stores that I don't use in my own home. I personally know the high-quality of these goods so well that I know the world affords nothing better.

The high-quality is the result of many years devoted to the close study of foods, and my tremendous prejudice against the practice of selling inferior foods to the public.

Take Thompson's canned peas for an example. I know the peas that are going into the cans. Why? Because my personal representatives inspect the peas when they are growing, and again when they are harvested. When they buy, they buy the pick of the crop.

Wisconsin is famous for its peas. The best peas in the world are grown there. Hence Thompson's peas are Wisconsin peas. There are three gradings of canned peas, Fancy, Extra Standard and Standard. The Fancy are the best and they are the only peas put up under the Thompson label. The requirements for Fancy peas are strict. They must be sweet and tender, each can must be well filled, the peas must be covered with a clear liquid and the size of the peas must be uniform.

In order that my special requirements may be lived up to in every detail, my men supervise the canning. And when the canning is done, we know what's in the can. So, that when peas carry the Thompson label they are the finest peas that can be bought. And this fact holds true in every brand of Thompson's canned goods.

Of course you can buy inferior grades of food at lower prices, but nowhere in the world can you buy Thompson quality at the low prices Thompson asks.

While the Republicans were ally, however, there was a fight in the ranks of the Dever being billed for speaking dates and stage issued to show further the Lueder rank.

O. P. CAMPAIGN CHIEFS RETURN TO BATTLE LINE

Lueder Soon Back; Others Begin Warming Up.

After a week of inactivity the campaign of former Postmaster Arthur Lueder, Republican candidate for governor, took on new life yesterday by Monday will be in full swing. Immediately after the primary election, Mr. Lueder and his campaign managers left town for a rest and the last two days have been relaxing.

Yesterday Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the Republican county central committee, and manager of the campaign, arrived from New Orleans and immediately got back into the fight. Afternoon he was in conference with leaders of the different Republican factions who have united in support of Mr. Lueder, the harmony campaign, and it is expected that he will call a meeting of the executive committee for some time tomorrow.

To Enlist Primary Forces. One of the first acts of the committee will be to reorganize, additional members from the ranks of Edward L. Miller, Arthur M. Millard, and Edward P. Barasa. Mr. Lueder's opponents in the primary being added, together with the names of several members of the citizen's committee, a plan of campaign will be developed upon and the battle started.

Mr. Lueder, himself, is not expected to return until tomorrow or Friday, and will probably do no active campaigning until the first of the week. Yesterday he was from Hot Springs, where he has been resting, and he was feeling fine and was anxious to get back into the campaign. His managers, however, feel that Monday is plenty of time. That will give them three full weeks.

Mr. Galpin and other Republican leaders apparently are little worried about the switching of Charles E. Merriam, Harold L. Ickes, Raymond Robins, and other former Progressives to the ranks of the Democratic nominee, Mr. William E. Dever.

Discount Influence on Vote. Mr. Galpin pointed out that it was a thing new for Merriam and Ickes to be supporting Democrats, the former having backed Mackay Hays and the latter the Democratic presidential nominee, James M. Cox. Outside of Merriam's personal vote, however, he has little effect in the majority campaign, the Lueder men say, and they point out that Ickes lives in Winnetka.

While the Republicans were resting quietly, however, there was much activity in the ranks of the Democrats, Judge Dever being billed for numerous speaking dates and statements being issued to show further backing for the Lueder ranks.

Yesterday Miss Mary McDowell, of the University of Chicago settlement, and Miss Agnes Nestor, president of the Women's Trade Union league, came out in support of Judge Dever, but at the same time Miss Nestor, director of the North Western University settlement, and one of the most prominent women in Chicago, was pledging her support to Mr. Lueder.

First Claimed by Democrats. Miss Vittum was one of the citizens' committee which urged the leaders of the different Republican factions support Mr. Lueder, and her statement, according to Republicans, will carry considerable weight, inasmuch as the Democrats a week ago were claiming that she would support Judge Dever.

Tonight, at a meeting in the Lexington hotel, under the direction of the Illinois Automobile club, the support of both Mr. Lueder and Judge Dever will be pledged to a campaign drive the reckless motorist from the streets of Chicago. Judge Dever usually will appear, and it is said that Mr. Lueder may come back especially for the meeting.

LARSEN ACCUSED OF PAYING $1,500 TO BURN FACTORY

Aircraft Plant Was Heavily Insured.

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—Charges that John M. Larsen, president of the J.L. Aircraft corporation, had persuaded him to set fire to the concern's airplane factory at Central Park, Long Island, on Feb. 8, 1922, are made in a confession by Ernest Buell. The confession is included in a deposition taken before Referee Arthur O. R. Twenty insurance companies, which, it was said, paid out more than $199,000 to Mr. Larsen, have been investigating the case since last summer.

Larsen Knighted by Danish King. Buell, in his statement, said that Larsen, who was recently knighted by the king of Denmark, and is now abroad, paid him $1,500 for acting as intermediary.

Mr. Larsen formerly lived in Chicago and was head of the Larsen Ice Machine company. Three years ago he began an active campaign to introduce the Junker all metal type of monoplane. In June, 1920, he brought one of these passenger carrying ships from New York to Chicago and thence to Omaha, returning from there direct to Long Island.

Buell, a German war veteran, came here as a mechanic with Larsen in 1920, when Larsen brought over an all metal plane of German design. Several of the Larsen planes were purchased by the all mail service.

Made Air Trips to Alaska. Larsen gained prominence by air trips to the coast and Alaska. He built an armored battle plane, mounted with thirty machine guns, which he valued at $85,000, and which he tried to sell to the government. This plane, it was said, was destroyed in the fire. Buell in his statement says that on Feb. 7, 1922, Larsen invited him to the Larsen home. Buell quoted his employer as saying that he wanted to get rid of the Central Park factory, because he did not need it longer. Buell said that Larsen told him to set fire to the plant, giving him minute instructions. The next day when he was alone in the middle hangar, Buell said he spilled a bucket of gasoline about the floor, struck a match to it, and when the place was in flames called help.

SCHOOL JURORS HEAR OF $55,000 WASTE ON LEASE

How the school board lost $55,000 by taking a contrary stand on the ownership of a lease for school property involved in a bankruptcy was described to the special grand jury inquiring into school board affairs last night by real estate experts and a bankruptcy trustee.

The ninety-nine year lease on the Saratoga property at 21 to 25 South Dearborn street became involved in the bankruptcy of Mrs. Warren Springer Oliver and the board tried to get the lease restored to a previous holder, Mrs. Alva Farwell. The $55,000 was lost in rents, legal fees, and experts' charges.

The jury indicated it would be ready to begin working on city hall affairs in two weeks.

U. S. NAVAL FORCE IS UNDER QUOTA, OFFICER ASSERTS

Urging a bigger navy for the United States, Lieut. Maurice Witherspoon, U. S. N., speaking before the weekly meeting of the Rotary club at the Hotel Sherman, yesterday, declared that the naval forces had dwindled a large amount from the quota allowed the United States under the 5-5-1 treaty.

"The army and the navy," said Lieut. Witherspoon, "are the first to feel the paring knife of mismanaged economy. Instead of maintaining our naval force to the limit fixed by the disarmament conference, the personnel of the navy has dwindled from the 110,000 allowed us to only 80,000 men."

Lieut. Witherspoon closed his speech with an appeal to boost the defenses of the country.

N. Y. SNOWSTORM IS BOON TO RUM RUNNING FLEET

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—Under concealment of a snowstorm today, the rum running fleet lying just beyond the three mile limit off the Jersey coast was reported to have grown rapidly larger and made ready to land its valuable cargoes. Before the weather became too thick to make observations impossible, it was reported five vessels had newly arrived. The vessels dropped anchor in the vicinity of other rum runners, which reappeared off the Jersey coast several days ago. The ships arriving are said to have been met by several tugs and supply boats, apparently having advance information of the enlargement of the fleet. Observers familiar with the habits of the deep sea bootleggers predicted that by nightfall the fleet outside would be increased to a score. Last observations showed there were more than fifteen vessels, including several steamers. The oyster boat, Elsie, with 360 cases of Scotch whisky aboard, was seized today at a public dock in Freeport by Superintendent of County Police William Phillips and several assistants.

Speakers will include Frank Smith of New York, president of the National Electric Light association;

DRY PATROLS TO KEEP WATCH ON NEXT CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—Prohibition enforcement officials here are excited over reports that the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act were disregarded in farwell parties of senators and congressmen at the capitol immediately after adjournment of congress Sunday noon.

Edgar N. Reed, divisional prohibition chief, admits that it is rather late to get any evidence, inasmuch as most of the members of congress are either traveling outside the three mile limit en route to Panama or gone to their homes. But he believes that something ought to be done to put an end to bootlegging at the senate and house office buildings.

That bootlegging goes on there on a large scale, as charged by Representative Upshaw (Dem., Ga.) is admitted. Stricter watch of the capitol buildings, prohibition officers declare, is to be kept when the next congress convenes. Manuel Herriek, until last Sunday noon a Republican member of congress from Oklahoma, came out today with a statement denouncing drinking at the capitol. Herriek said he would be "damn glad" to get away from the capitol.

"I saw so much drinking around congress," said Herriek, "that it made me sick. I've seen congressmen bring liquor into the capitol, and I've seen 'em liquored up in the cloak rooms. It was all a game—those fellows voting dry and drinking wet."

COSTS HIM $25 TO ARGUE. Charles Morgan, restaurant owner at 1109 West Division street, was fined $25 and costs yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct arising out of an argument with a customer.

3 "SUPERVISED" TAG DAYS YIELD $186,856 IN YEAR

Chicago donated $186,856.67 to charity at three tag days in 1922, according to a report of A. J. A. O. Anderson, chairman of the tag day subcommittee of the council finance committee yesterday.

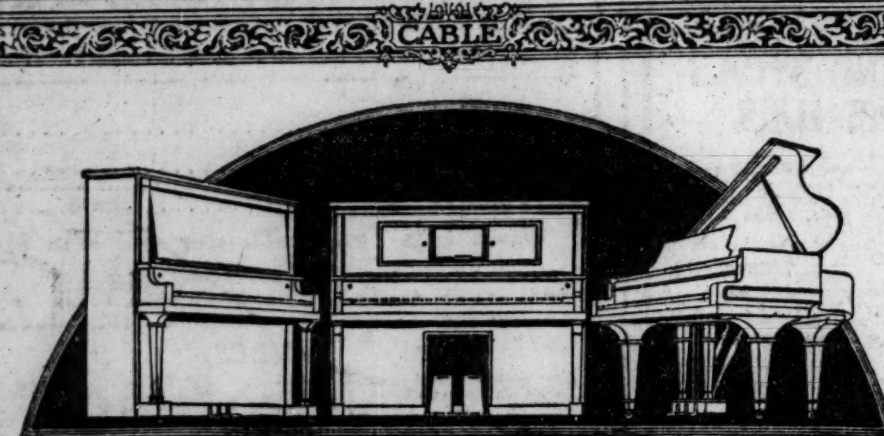

"In addition twenty-three other tag days were held," Ald. Anderson said. "Permits for these were issued by special order of the council, in violation of its rules. The amount collected at these unsupervised tag days cannot be accurately estimated, and the public will never know how the money was used."

The three tag days authorized by ordinance, the proceeds of which were audited under city supervision, were Chicago Federated Charities (adults), twenty-nine organizations participating, $28,016.87, on Sept. 11; Chicago Federated Aged and Adult Charities, thirty-seven organizations, $68,631.64, May 15; Chicago Children's Benefit league, fifty-one organizations, $90,208.16, on Oct. 16.

Death Penalty for Poison Rum Sellers to Be Urged

HARDING GOES HUNT; HAS BRIEF JAUNT ON RIVER

Spends Night at Daytona;
Dawes with Party.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 6.—(Special.)—President and Mrs. Harding embarked on the houseboat Pioneer this afternoon for a two weeks' cruise on the inland waterways of the east coast between here and Miami.

Their special train arrived here this morning and stopped within a few hundred yards of the dock. Mr. and Mrs. Harding, B. McLean, their hosts on the houseboat, and a few other guests, met them at the dock and they motored through a lane of cheering winter visitors to the Pioneer, a three decked houseboat and one of the most luxurious crafts of its kind in southern waters.

Mr. Harding lost some time in changing into golfing costume, and after lunch on the Pioneer he played eighteen holes with Mr. McLean and two other members of the houseboat party. Mrs. Harding, Charles G. Dawes of Chicago and A. D. Lasker of the United States shipping board.

The presidential foursome arrived on the Ormond course a few minutes after John D. Rockefeller completed his daily five holes and returned to his home.

Although the score of the Harding foursome remains a charitable secret, it was noticed that a sandy fairgreen and smooth rolled greens gave little chance for par figures, and Gen. Dawes, whose temperary phrases are memorable, had a few picturesque remarks to make about the mental hazard of playing with a President and topping a drive in front of a gallery and motion picture photographers.

Party Goes to Daytona.
After the match Mr. Harding and the three other golfers returned to the Pioneer, which cast off from the dock and sailed seven miles down the Halifax river and anchored off Daytona for the night. It is expected the houseboat will continue on tomorrow morning to New Smyrna for a round of golf over one of the courses in the neighborhood.

Attorney General Daugherty, who accompanied the President to Florida, did not board the Pioneer as first planned, but continued on the train to Miami, where he is looking forward to a week of quiet and recuperation.

ARMY PLANES ON THIRD HQP

Dotted lines show completed portion of journey; plain lines part to be completed.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 6.—Lieut. Kirksey and Selser, manning plane No. 9 of the squadron of six army De Havilland planes which arrived at Pablo Beach, near here, late today, narrowly escaped injury when their machine took a nose dive into the ocean at Neptune Beach and stuck in the sand about ten feet from shore. Neither was hurt.

The other planes of the squadron, which is on a 2,850 mile flight from Kelly field, Tex., to San Juan, Porto Rico, landed at Pablo Beach without mishap shortly after 4:30 o'clock.

W.K. VANDERBILT LEFT $54,530,966 ESTATE IN 1920

New York State Gets $1,934,574 Tax.

New York, March 6.—(Special.)—William K. Vanderbilt, who died in Paris on July 22, 1920, left an estate valued at $54,530,966. That figure became public today when the appraisal was accomplished and the transfer tax was decreed in Suffolk county.

Two sons, William K. Vanderbilt and Harold S. Vanderbilt, inherit the bulk of the wealth.

Under the appraisal the state of New York receives the largest inheritance tax ever paid in Suffolk county, $1,934,574. Shortly before his death Mr. Vanderbilt gave to his daughter, Consuelo Balzan, formerly the Duchess of Marlborough, $15,000,000.

Gave Marlborough Only Half.
While the gross value of the estate was more than $54,000,000, debts and the expenses of administration reduced it to a net of $40,239,842. The biggest individual item of debt was a leftover from the princely dowry Mr. Vanderbilt gave his daughter at the time of her alliance with the Duke of Marlborough.

It was said Mr. Vanderbilt settled upon her titled suitor the sum of $5,000,000. It so, evidently but half of that amount ever was handed over, for the executors, the two sons of the testator, list $2,500,000 due "to the trustees under the settlement upon the marriage of the Duke of Marlborough with Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt."

Was a Good Investor.
The net estate as appraised was made up of only $4,007,477 in realty and $50,232,365 in personality, of which the biggest items were stocks, with holdings in the New York Central and other first class roads predominating.

Mr. Vanderbilt is shown by the appraisal of stocks to have been a wise investor and to have had but few inferior or worthless holdings. In the last named class, however, is an investment in the Havana Tobacco company, which amounted to $470,000 and was found by the appraisers to be worth only $9,200.

THREE DEALERS FOUND GUILTY OF HIDING ASSETS

Hyman and Isadore Marco, owners of several department stores on the northwest side, and Sam Greenspan, their cousin, yesterday were found guilty by jury in Federal Judge Cliffe's court of conspiracy to defraud Chicago wholesalers of more than $56,000 in merchandise.

According to the evidence, the three merchants obtained consignments of goods from Marshall Field & Co., Carson Pirie Scott & Co., and John V. Farwell & Co. within a short time before filing a voluntary petition in bankruptcy.

Subsequent inquiry developed that assets totaling $56,000 disappeared between the time the goods were shipped on credit and the time of the bankruptcy action.

A delegation of wholesalers will ask that the maximum penalty, two years in prison and fines of $10,000 each be imposed.

POLICE HUNT FOR CHICAGO STUDENT GONE THREE DAYS

Michigan "U" Is Puzzled
Over Disappearance.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 6.—(Special.)—Henry Garber, 26 years old, a sophomore medical student in the University of Michigan, whose home is in Chicago, has been strangely missing since last Saturday and neither the university authorities nor the police have been able to locate him.

Garber was a good student, but he had one "make up" examination to take last Saturday afternoon. He had studied late on Friday night and did not get up until after 9 o'clock Saturday morning. He went out to breakfast and that is the last time he has been seen. Thinking that he might have gone to his home in Chicago, university authorities communicated with his parents, but learned that he had neither been home nor had he written.

Garber had been in this country for eleven years. He seemed to prefer to be alone, and as a consequence he had no close friends. At his rooming house they say that he had never acted in any peculiar manner, that he had been quiet, and that he had no bad habits of which they had been aware. He had no love affairs and was not pressed for money, it is said.

Because he had no worries, so far as either faculty, rooming house or students knew, and because he was a good student, well up in his work, there is a feeling that he may have wandered away while suffering from a temporary lapse of memory, and some fear that while in that condition he may have killed himself.

Police have notified officers of cities in southern Michigan giving his description.

WALSKA DROPS CONCERT DATES TO JOIN HAROLD

Ganna Walska McCormick believes the shortest distance between Chicago and San Diego is a straight but up musical line from her mother-in-law's residence, 675 Rush street, to her husband in California. Accordingly, Mrs. Harold McCormick yesterday cancelled engagements to sing in concert at Rockford and Kansas City and plans to leave soon for the west to join her husband. Decisions as to her appearance as guest artist with the Russian grand opera and as soloist in her own concerts are still pending her meeting with Mr. McCormick.

Two Girls Held for Theft Blame Lawyer's Whisky

Vera Steinberg, 639 Grace street, and Catherine Schenk, 2850 Southport avenue, both 19 years old, arraigned yesterday on a charge of stealing dresses, laid the blame on whisky they had drunk earlier in the day in an unnamed lawyer's office on La Salle street. The girls were placed on six months' probation by Judge Schulman.

WHEN you buy furniture you're primarily interested in getting good value—your money's worth. Price is important, of course; but what you get in quality and satisfaction comes first.

We recognize your interest in furniture quality and prices. And we think of this business of ours as serving you by having for you here furniture of fine quality at prices that assure you of good value in anything you buy.

There's an interesting point about the prices we show here with our list of special offerings. You'll notice a "regular price" and a "sale price." The "regular price" shows what we would normally ask for these goods. At the regular prices they'd be good values; at the "sale prices" they're remarkable values. That's the way we regard our prices—as indicators of values.

With a few exceptions, every item in our stock is new; bought to great advantage some time ago especially for this sale. Every piece is Scholle quality, of course, and backed by our guarantee of your satisfaction.

"CREATING A MARKET" —for finer clothes.

WE find it not nearly so difficult as one would imagine—this idea of creating a market for finer clothes—for experience the past few days, "under the new order of things," has convinced us that the public mind is progressive, and ever ready to receive new impressions which have a definite leaning toward the permanent betterment of conditions.

NATURALLY, when you see these new and finer things in Men's Clothes the appeal will be to the eye, and you will revel in an atmosphere of good taste; but the major appeal will come with the realization that here are garments quite representative of a "new order of thinking"—tailored with exceeding great care, conscientiousness and comprehensiveness; and that many of the patterns are exclusive—sounding the depths of every man's ambition to avoid the commonplace in dress. May we not expect you today?

CRIME AND VICE.

Two grand juries have been charged with the duty of investigating what is called vice and have discharged that duty. A third is now to be charged with it and undertake it. Vice is distinct from crime, in general meaning, in that it is something engaged in willingly, although illegally and immorally, by the participant. A citizen may be involved in crime as the victim, but in vice there was a decision.

The threat of the third grand jury investigation has disturbed Chief Fitzmorris. THE TRIBUNE has no first hand information as to the administration of the police under the present chief. It relies upon the judgment of certain intelligent citizens who have made it a public service to work for the suppression of crime. The majority of these citizens say that Fitzmorris is one of the best chiefs the city ever had.

If that is the case, and we are inclined to accept their word, backed as it is by statistics related to the major offenses against public security, such a chief should have public support. Vice, involving the passions of human nature, is the most difficult of all community problems. It is as quicksilver. It changes its form and its habitation as often as the police can change the method of attack.

The chief, named by the grand jury investigation of his administration, has done a natural protective thing. He has decided to detail sufficient men to guard suspected places. To do this adequately will require perhaps 1,200 men, and they must be withdrawn from other police work.

Vice can be otherwise handled than by the assigning of a policeman to watch every two or three possible prostitutes in the city. We cannot blame the chief if he answers his critics in this fashion. It is bad for the city, but it is natural that he should protect his own reputation.

When a police force makes it the chief order of the day to prevent sex promiscuity it takes an order which will not leave much time for anything else. Two grand juries have found that the police force was not contributing to prostitution, which is the worst offense.

The right of a decent citizen to be protected in his life and property is of more serious public concern than the offenses of a citizen who elects to be sexually irregular.

HOPES FOR THE GLORIOUS REVOLUTION.

Comrade Lenin, pausing in the strategic retreat he has been conducting from the bolshevik Utopia, discusses the prospects of the world revolution. He regrets that the "masses of the far east must be educated" before that glorious event can take place, and meantime Russia must adopt an economic policy capable of preventing the imperialistic European states from crushing her.

By that we infer he means that the Red army must be kept up and an economic system adopted which will work regardless of Marx. If capitalist America continues to feed millions of Russian children and the proletarian car continues to adopt capitalism, the evangel of communism can be carried to the benighted west and some day perhaps all the world may be enjoying the benefits of the proletarian dictatorship.

Over four years Lenin and his associates have been in charge of a nation of a hundred and fifty millions occupying one of the richest portions of the globe. They have had full sway to erect the perfect state, they have slaughtered every one in reach who opposed them, destroyed every vestige of individual liberty, confiscated wealth, imposed forced labor, paralyzed the worst evils of the capitalist system, revived commerce, and discouraged production by confiscation until one of the greatest famines in history was brought about in a land once the great granary of Europe.

This is the achievement of the glorious revolution, according to Marx, for which Lenin asks the workers of the world to strive. When we all get that revolution we shall have no capitalists to feed the liberated proletarians, no bourgeois engineers to run the railroads or direct the factories. The dictatorship of the proletariat will arrange all that, as it has done for four years in Russia, and those who don't like it will be confronted with a machine gun. The world will be all proletarian and the proletarians will be happy though hungry, as long as they hold out. There will be equality at last, for every one will be equally wretched (except the dictatorship and the army), and there will be complete freedom of thought and speech, because any one who does not think according to Marx will be eliminated from this glorious proletarian world.

Lenin, though recognizing that the masses must be educated to appreciate the charms of bolshevik management, is hopeful. Workers unite, and you may yet enjoy the blessings showered upon the Russians for four years by the dictatorship of the proletariat.

AUTOMOBILE KILLINGS.

In the first three months of 1923 one hundred and three persons have been killed by automobiles in this city.

We think this toll is too high. We think such a casualty list deserves more attention than is given it and calls for vigorous and persistent action until life is a good deal better protected from this hazard than it is now. This city is getting about as dangerous a place to live in as a medieval city, and in the streets more dangerous to children.

There will be no change while penalties for killing are so mild. Our attitude toward automobile deaths is strangely callous. Excuses are too easily accepted, and the pedestrian, child, cripple, aged woman, or man in the flush of life finds that he or she has few rights which the reckless driver is disposed to respect.

That is a condition which should be reversed. When a driver kills, the burden should be on him to prove that he was using every precaution. The right to life is superior to the right to drive a car. Drivers should be taught by heavy penalty that it is they who are required to exercise caution, not the pedestrian. Especially the case of children should be put on a proper basis. A child is not able to judge of conditions of safety or danger. It is up to the driver to think for him. It is up to the driver at all times to drive at such a rate and to have such control of the car as will protect any child, no matter what the child's impulse may be.

Drivers are too ready to take chances. They drive around and past vehicles and obstructions without respect for the possibilities. If they were punished drastically for accidents they would refuse to take chances. Now the chances are all at the expense of the pedestrian. We do not forget jay-walkers and absent-minded people. They often contribute to their own injury. But that is not an answer. Any one driving an automobile should be compelled to take errors into account, for the car driver is in charge of a powerful and dangerous machine.

More speed on the clear road may not be dangerous under the right conditions, but haste, the determination to get along, is always dangerous. It tempts the driver constantly to take chances, to put himself where he will be unable to meet an unexpected situation, to dodge around street cars and other vehicles on the chance that no one will appear in his path. In a great city this is a habit which is certain to bring accidents and it has run up our automobile killings at a shocking rate.

There is only one means of correcting this evil: it is prompt and severe punishment for any one who kills with a car. Not fines, but imprisonment. That would make life a good deal safer in this town. No one's time is so valuable that he should be allowed to endanger human life to save five seconds.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TROUBLES.

Fire Marshal Seyferlich and Fire Commissioner Cullerton are reported to have agreed upon the outlines of a plan to rid the fire department of incapacitated members. If that plan will accomplish what is hoped for, it will accomplish much more. The department should not only be rid of incapacitated members but rid of the demoralizing influence of a sense of insecurity, injustice and intrigue which appears to have permeated it.

THE TRIBUNE does not know all the influences at the bottom of this demoralization, but some of the most experienced, efficient and intelligent men in the department lay them at the door of Commissioner Cullerton. Witness a letter appearing in the Voice of the People department today.

Whatever the reason for this situation, it is clear that it cannot fail to injure department morale, and therefore injure efficiency. That must be corrected. Every honest man in the department will admit it. Some of them differ on the means of correction. Even those who have been opposing Commissioner Cullerton's effort to have so-called supernumerary or incapacitated members retired admit that if there are such members they should be retired. They object to the plan of retirement supported by Cullerton on the ground that their experience with the commissioner makes them believe it would not work out fairly. They fear summary reference to the trial board based on prejudiced tests, and resultant summary dismissal. No one can blame them for objecting to that. They declare they are willing to let the commissioner come to a head under the new city administration. That, we believe, is fair enough.

Certainly the retention of suspected inefficient in the department for a couple of months more cannot impair its general efficiency any more seriously than has the sense of insecurity and injustice recently developed. Efficiency is the paramount object. Whatever course will best assure it is the best course to pursue.

If the reported agreement between Seyferlich and Cullerton will accomplish that, to the satisfaction of the best type of men in the department, well and good. If not, we believe the entire issue may well be left in abeyance for the few weeks until a new administration can settle it justly, for the benefit of the city, and incidentally for the benefit of the department.

Editorial of the Day

THIS IS NOT JUSTICE.

(Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat-Chronicle.)

One James Smith, a Chicago, crook, was convicted of a robbery. He induced a professional bondsman to put up the money necessary to keep him out of jail while waiting for his trial. Then he started out on another robbery in order to get the money to pay his bondsman. In the course of this he shot and killed a crippled clerk in a cigar store.

In due course of time he was convicted of this crime and sentenced to be hanged.

That should have ended the matter until the official hanging took place and closed the career of this man who had proved himself to be a deadly enemy of society. But unfortunately it did not. Gov. Small granted a reprieve of ninety days, and the hanging which was to have been done last Friday is postponed at least three months.

This executive interference with the orderly course of justice would be sufficiently unwise, to state the case mildly, but according to the Chicago papers there is more to it. If some of the statements made in connection with this affair are correct, the real reason for Gov. Small's activity is that his family is in the favor of capital punishment.

It does not appear that there is any chance for a reopening of the case in court. All that Gov. Small has done is to postpone for three months the inevitable; or else he has contemplated turning aside the judgment of the law by eventually commuting the sentence, as he did in a case last summer.

This is not justice.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

FIRE COMMISSIONER CULLERTON and Chief Seyferlich, according to yesterday's W. G. N., have "buried the hatchet" and will agree on plans to re-incorporate the fire department. Oh, that is much better! No matter how old or fat some of the firemen may be, we are glad that the commissioner and chief have agreed that there is a better way of disposing of them than hitting them on the head with a hatchet. O, do keep the hatchet buried, boys; the spectacle of you, Mr. Cullerton, and you, Mr. Seyferlich, chasing wheedling, gray bearded old firemen down alleys and cross-roads, slamming at them with hatchets, is too pitiable, too revolting! There certainly must be a more humane way of disposing of them.

Why Can't He Be Press Agent for the Penitentiary?
R. H. L.: Item in yesterday's Herald states that the authorities at Leavenworth are stumped for suitable occupation for Big Tim Murphy. Would it be presumptuous to suggest that they allow him to unigize the guards? Think how much a strike would benefit the star boarders! OPHIELIA LENO.

OUR DEBT COLLECTOR went to Paris to get $225,000,000 that is owing to us as bond and kept for our army on the Rhine. The French took the d. c. out and gave him a very nice lunch, but nothing was said about paying that $225,000,000. If our debt collector can get nothing from the French but a free lunch, then enough of us have got to go over to run the luncheon bills up to $225,000,000. Again we call for volunteers for the occupation of every eating place in Paris! On to Maxim's! On to Henri's! On to the Rat Mort! On to Foyot's! On to the Cafe Anglaise! Ah, mes enfants! marchons, marchons, a manger pour la patrie!

MISS PHOEBE FOSTER, THE LADY IN GREEN!

Dear Chief: I had not thought that my apparently harmless tribute to a very delightful and charming young actress, which you were good enough to publish a fortnight ago would call forth the comment that it has. I purposely omitted the lady's name to avoid causing her embarrassment; but since a number of your readers seem quite anxious to know, and to make an end to the whole affair, let me say that the young woman to whom I referred is indeed a very charming and talented actress, and is known to me as "Lady in Green" (like that, at present playing—or at least it was playing—at the Harris theater. There now! I reckon that bringing this long-lost "Lady in Green" right into camp. BITTERNOOT BIZ.

The little bit of one gains on him gradually. For variety a few more great big fat ones join in the chase, 'til by the time we reach "Chicago" go remember your parcels and umbrellas!—we are ab-solutely quelled! Oh! And then at night I sleep some more,
There isn't nothin' else to do.

How would you like to chuck your job,
And come out here and live like me?
There's lots of gin, and chow and girls,
Pack up your bag and come and see.

CAN DIPHTHERIA BE CONTROLLED?

HAVE we arrived at the point where it is possible to eliminate diphtheria?

Have we the tools required?

Do we know how to use them? Are the people enlightened enough to permit them to be used? The New York state department of health believes the answer to all these questions to be "yes." They think this strongly enough to gamble some reputation and standing on their opinion. Having become convinced that the time had come to throw the dice and be judged by the people, the state department of health in New York has made a demonstration in a small sized up-state city. Auburn was selected because it was a community with a mixture of retired farmers and foreign born people employed principally in industrial plants. It had a population of about 36,000. In other words, the place was selected because places of that size and with that kind of a population are always difficult from the health standpoint.

The tools for controlling diphtheria are these: fairly satisfactory methods of clinical and laboratory diagnosis; methods of testing susceptibility; methods of vaccination; antitoxin to cure and also to produce a quickly induced, temporary immunity; hospitals, physicians and nurses and a fairly enlightened public.

The method employed in Auburn was as follows: They found that there were 7,105 school children in the city. They undertook to find out how many of these were immune to diphtheria and to vaccinate all those not immune to the disease. They tested the immunity of 1,071 of these children. Of these, they found 4,493 who were immune to diphtheria. They gave at least one dose of vaccine to 99 per cent and three doses of vaccine—the whole course—to 85 per cent of these.

The authorities calculate that of the complete vaccination of 2,110 children, and the partial vaccination of 140 others, they have secured the number of children in the public schools non-immune to diphtheria from an estimated 4,618 to an estimated 2,373. Only 400 children of pre-school age were vaccinated. No special effort to immunize adults was made.

Diphtheria is not a highly contagious disease, nor one that is difficult to control. The authorities predict a great decrease in the diphtheria rate in Auburn. They are willing to be judged by the outcome.

The experiment was begun in February, 1922. The report cites a material decrease in diphtheria in one school and the control of an epidemic in an orphan's home, but does not claim that they furnish final proof.

It is impossible to vaccinate about 6 per cent of a population and an intelligent public.

STOLEN TOOLS.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—A carpenter puts his tools away after a day's work and the door to the room is locked. During the night the door is broken open and the tools are stolen. Is the company responsible for the loss? That is, can I hold them liable? A. M. W.

Not unless the company was in some way to blame, say, for example, if it lock was poor. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ONE YEAR'S GRACE.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—My father died thirteen months ago, making a will before his attorney. I should like to know when the children will be entitled to their share. J. V.

Depends on the wording of the will. Since claims can be filed within one year, distribution is never required sooner than one year from date of letting the will be proved. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ALLEY SERVICE GIVEN.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—I was told to report to your department the condition in the alley running between 56th and 58th streets back of Hyde Park boulevard. Some people dump ashes there day after day, and it surely should be stopped. A. W. B.

Ashes contained of were removed and the offenders notified to stop throwing ashes and refuse into the alley. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BANK PAYS ON FORGED SIGNATURE.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—I lost my bank book containing $200. When I reported the loss to the bank I was told that my money was cashed out by some one who forged my signature. Can I claim anything from the bank, or must I lose the entire amount? The bank will not give me any satisfaction. M. C. S.

Depends on the nature of the account and the agreement printed in the book. It seems probable that the bank is liable. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

HOW READS THE LEASE!

Chicago, March 1.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—Please advise me in connection with the following: A tenant has a lease, with the option of renewing. What method would be necessary in finding out whether the tenant intends to renew his lease, or would the landlord have to wait until the lease expires? S. H. S.

We cannot advise to advantage without knowing the wording of the lease. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MEMORY TESTS

1. By whom was "Put Yourself in His Place" written? By Charles Reade.

2. What speed can an elephant attain? One authority on Asiatic animals states that fifteen miles an hour is about the greatest speed that the Asiatic elephant is capable of making.

3. Give five synonyms for the word "bargain." Transaction, negotiation, business, speculation, and haggling.

4. Who invented the pendulum clock? Christian Huygens, a Dutchman, in 1656.

5. When and where was "Go west, young man" first used? This phrase, popularly attributed to Horace Greeley, is said really to belong to John L. B. Soule, editor of the Terra Haute Express, who wrote an editorial about it west in 1851.

FIREMEN'S VIEWS OF EFFICIENCY TESTS.

Chicago, March 5.—Since the early morning edition of THE TRIBUNE today the rank and file of the Chicago fire department have been discussing our editorial relating to the difference of the fire marshal and the fire commissioner.

In justice to the people of Chicago as well as to the 2,400 firemen we wish to state that these men would not be assured of fair and impartial examination under any dictation of Fire Commissioner Cullerton.

We base our views on undisputed facts known to every member of the fire department. Following are some of the reasons why he should be disqualified from conducting or participating in any test or examination of firemen:

1. Under the ordinance creating the positions of fire commissioner and fire marshal it is specifically stated that said fire commissioner shall have nothing whatsoever to do with the uniformed or active force of the fire department, said control and management being vested solely in the fire marshal.

2. Said Mr. Cullerton, by acts of his during the last several years of his connection with the fire department, has led the members of the fire department to believe that it would be absolutely impossible to get a fair and just trial under his jurisdiction, say, for instance, the trial of J. C. McDonnell and J. J. McLaughlin, which we believe the public as well as the firemen know was farcical and unjust to the men and to the community which lost the skilled services of two of the best fire marshals in the United States.

3. If Mr. Cullerton was honest and sincere in his motives in any rehabilitation of the fire department, why has he allowed to be reinstated on the fire department an estimated number of 275 men who had been removed from the department for inefficiency after fair and just trials, said members being out of the service for periods of from five to thirty-three years, with ages ranging from 40 to 65 years, notably the case of Mr. Hussey, who was assigned to engine company No. 37, who was discharged from the fire department thirty-three years ago. At the time of his reinstatement he was 64 years of age. This is only some evidence of Mr. Cullerton's ideas of efficiency which are revolting to Chicago firemen.

4. Another flagrant case is that of N. D. Murray, who has never performed fire duty, but who has been an engineer for at least twenty years. During the last two years he has performed no fire duty whatsoever, but has acted as secretary of the Mutual Aid, and at the present time is among those who are on the list for promotion to lieutenant, and who would be assigned to take the place of one of these efficient men whom Mr. Cullerton wishes to displace. He is also absolutely unable to perform the duties required of all newly promoted officers, and at the present time is not assigned, as is the equivalent of other officers promoted, to the drill school of which Mr. Cullerton so proudly boasts.

5. As a real, honest, and impartial test of efficiency in the fire department today the firemen ask that a survey be made of the districts of which most of these officers who are slated to be retired are

There is always an explosion in the Lusitania.
Chicago, March 5.—May a reader comment on the outrageously false stuff of the signature of Ralph Emerson of Milwaukee in this morning's Tribune? In this letter is the statement, "The Lusitania carried munitions of war for France, and France is therefore more responsible for the loss of the Lusitania than is Germany."

It is time that even such rabid and vicious falsehoods should cease repeating this hoary falsehood. There has never been any basis for this charge beyond the word of a diplomat whom Secretary Lane charged with withholding dispatches.

To believe it true we must believe that the officers of the ship falsified their manifest, that the United States customs officials violated their trust, and that the United States court in New York which patiently heard for months the attempt of certain interests to substantiate the charge, and announced its decision that there was no basis for the charge but the Lusitania carried munitions of war, was somehow corrupted.

URGES MEDICAL STUDY IN MANNER TOWARD PATIENT

"We do not want our medical students to be trained by guinea pig doctors," was the way in which Dr. Lyman Wilbur of Stanford University pleaded yesterday for the right of the physician teaching in a medical school to carry on a private practice. Dr. Wilbur spoke before the hospital service session of the annual congress of medical education, medical licensure, public health and hospitals now in session at the Congress hotel. Dr. Frank Billings of Chicago, president of the American Conference on Hospital Service, presided.

"The professor is teaching his students to be doctors," Dr. Wilbur continued, discussing a paper by Dr. C. P. Howard of the State University of Iowa on "The Relation of the State University Hospital to the Medical Profession."

"It is not only a question of laboratory technique; the older man should impart to the pupil the method of approach to a patient, the manner of the consultation."

Dr. Howard spoke of the welcome accorded by practitioners of the older school who had never enjoyed modern advantages, to a short course given at the University of Iowa medical college in which recent advances in medical science are presented. He was seconded by Dr. Irving S. Cutter of the University of Nebraska, who declared a similar course given there was always filled by country doctors anxious to learn progressive methods.

A New Effect of Checks in Smart Sweater Coats, $5

Women are much interested in the introduction of a new style in sweater coats.

And that one so really out of the ordinary should be so extremely moderate in price makes its first showing unusual indeed.

Of All-Wool, the Checks Knitted in a Novel Way, Bring Out the Contrasting Colors

The sleeves and back are plain—a feature much noted in many of the better sweater coats this season. In truly athletic style, these sweater coats are collarless. In all the desired darker shades, in lighter colors combined with white. Sketched. Priced, $5.
Third Floor, North.

Little Touches Accent the Mode in New Neckwear for Women

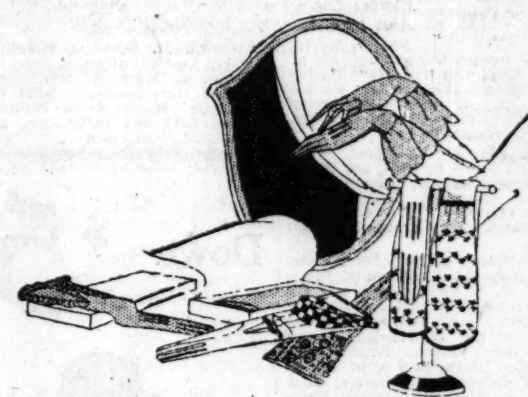

Scarfs patterned and gay in color. Collars and cuffs, tipped with color. In these one sees the trend of the new. Just now a charming bit of neckwear well-chosen means much to the wardrobe.
First Floor, North.

Mostly, these frocks take the straight lines, either slip-over or coat styles, of the new mode. Vivid colors in the new cottons are attuned to the colorful way of fashions. And almost always there is that touch of white so cool-looking in tub frocks.

In Coat Effect, Embroidered, are New Linen Frocks at $16.75

CHARLES NORTON, FORMER TAFT AID, DIES IN NEW YORK

Charles D. Norton, former prominent insurance official of Chicago, and later private secretary to President Taft, died in New York yesterday at the age of 53. He had been one of the leading officials of the First National bank of New York since 1911.

Mr. Norton was born in Oakbrook, Wis., the son of the Rev. Franklin B. Norton, a congregational frontier missionary. Graduated from Amherst college in 1893, he joined the staff of Scribner's, and two years later took a position with the Northwestern Mutual company in Chicago. He was joint agent with W. V. Kinnel until 1916, when, the latter dying, he became sole agent.

Sought to Beautify Chicago. Mr. Norton's chief hobby while he lived here was the beautification of Chicago. In this he became an associate of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and a close friendship developed into a close friendship. Partly on account of this friendship and partly in a "spirit of adventure" into the realm of politics, in 1912 he gave up his $50,000 salary with the insurance company for a $4,500 one as first assistant secretary of treasury. Mr. MacVeagh then became secretary of the treasury.

Attracted Taft's Notice. Although totally unfamiliar with politics, his work was so efficient that it attracted the notice of President Taft, who appointed him his secretary in 1916. Mr. Norton held this post with equal success until January, 1917, when he resigned.

Afterward Mr. Norton was elected a vice president of the First National bank of New York. Later he became president of the First National corporation, a subsidiary organization.

In 1917 he married Miss Katherine McKim Garrison of New York. Three children were born to the marriage and survive him. Mr. Norton was a member of the Chicago and the University clubs here and many clubs in Washington and New York.

SENATOR GLASS SURE CRONKHITE WAS MURDERED

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(Special.)—Senator Carter Glass (Dem., Va.), who, after a careful review of evidence presented to him in the case, has become convinced that Maj. Alexander P. Cronkrite was murdered at Camp Lewis, Wash., in 1918, declared today that he intended to demand a senatorial inquiry in the next congress if the war department does not pursue one in the meantime. "There should be a thorough investigation," said Senator Glass. "If the war department does not act during the recess, I shall press my resolution as soon as the senate reconvenes. I am fully convinced by the evidence which was presented to me that Gen. Cronkrite's son was murdered, and that for some reason that does not appear clear an extraordinary effort is being made to prevent a proper court of inquiry into the facts of the case."

Woman Identifies Man as Leader in Gem Theft

New York, March 6.—Mrs. Hugo S. P. Schoellkopf of Buffalo today identified Matthew Biddulph as "Marshall," one of a gang that robbed her of jewels valued at $125,000 at a New Year's party at the apartment of Frank B. Carman, an actor. Mrs. Schoellkopf was about to appear before the grand jury when she confronted Biddulph.

GORMAN BEGINS CONTEST FOR OLD CONGRESS SEAT

Charges Buckley Victory to Election Frauds.

Former Congressman John J. Gorman of the Sixth district, who was defeated last November by a margin of 42 votes, yesterday charged charges of fraud in the election to the federal courts.

JOHN J. GORMAN.

Federal Judge Wilkerson, acting on pleas of attorneys for Gorman, ordered county officers to produce in his court this morning at 10 o'clock all documents pertaining to the congressional fight.

In his charges, Gorman sets forth many alleged violations of the law, both in casting and tabulating votes, and claims that he would have been reflected over James R. Buckley, his Democratic opponent, by a great majority had there been an attempt to conduct the election legally. In addition to a large part of the west side of Chicago, the Sixth district includes Austin, Oak Park, Berwyn, Lyons, and other sections to the west of Chicago.

Says Ballots Exceeded Voters.

According to the suit filed by Attorney Louis J. Behan and Howard W. Brundage, election officials who had been sworn to officiate and permitted votes to be illegally cast, overlooked irregularities in markings, and in some cases tolerated the casting of many more votes than there were registered voters in the precinct.

It is also charged that many votes cast for John J. Gorman were accredited to Simon Gorman, who was a candidate for congressman at large.

Court Calls Election Chiefs.

Following the filing of the suit a subpoena duces tecum for County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, County Clerk Robert M. Switzer, and three election commissioners was issued by Judge Wilkerson, ordering them to appear with the election documents.

According to the final tabulation by the county election board Gorman received 58,856 votes, while Buckley polled 58,928. Gorman retired from congress last Sunday after one term in which he devoted much of his time to postal reforms. He was for nine years a letter carrier and was elected after he had taken a night law course in conjunction with his postoffice work.

SKIPPER ATTACKS

FELLOW PATIENT

WITH A HATCHET

Capt. Charles Craig of the tug Central lost his moorings at the United States Marine hospital, 4141 Cleveland avenue, last night and ran amuck with a hatchet, attacking Star Foote, 50 years old of Milwaukee, Wis., another patient in ward A.

Unable to quell the disturbance, hospital attendants called the police. When the patrol wagon arrived Foote was on the operating table having his wounds dressed and Capt. Craig had fled, clad only in his pajamas. It is possible he may have jumped into the lake.

SELZNICK BRANCH

NAMED IN ACTION

FOR BANKRUPTCY

New York, March 6.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in federal court today against the Selznick Pictures corporation, producer and distributor of motion pictures. Claims of $3,000 were filed by three companies.

A statement was issued at the Selznick office this afternoon explaining that the Selznick Pictures corporation is one of the subsidiary corporations of the Selznick corporation of Delaware.

MORE BUILDING

RECORDS BROKEN,

FIGURES SHOW

Building permits for 1923 passed the $50,000,000 mark on March 6, the citizens' committee to enforce the Landis award announced yesterday.

The total taken out from Jan. 2 to March 5, inclusive, the statement says, "was $50,122,045."

This is more than the combined total of all permits taken out during the corresponding periods in 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, and 1919. It is more than double that of last year.

Hear Stops Pain

in Few Minutes

Rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, backache, stiff neck, sore muscles, strains, sprains, aching joints. When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into pain and congestion relief comes at once.

Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the sore spot is warmed through and through and the torture is gone.

Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, costs little at any drug store. Get a jar at once. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on every package.

QUICK POLICE WORK ROUNDS UP GEM THEFT GANG

3 Robberies Pinned on Daylight Bandits.

Present day detective methods, contrasting in speed to those of great detectives of fiction, yesterday in remarkable time permitted the entries, "cleared up, prisoners identified" to be written on the detective bureau record of three daylight loop robberies.

The beginning was the arrest of Louis Schief, five minutes after he had fought his way out of the Mentor building, 39 South State street, with his share of the $25,000 in diamonds just taken from the offices of A. Massover & Co., jewelers.

Pals Quickly Identified.

Lieut. Michael L. Grady and Sergeants Hayes, Hughes, Gibbons and Dallegre were assigned to the case and yesterday afternoon arrested George McKee, Jerome S. McKee, Sam Sherman, John Davis, John O'Malley, Peter McCabe and Margaret Davis, and recovered the diamonds lost by the Massover company.

Named in Two Other Cases.

George McKee and Louis Schief were identified by Mrs. Beatrice Massover and four others who had witnessed the robbery. The same McKee and Peter McCabe were identified as the pair who had robbed the Commercial Guaranty company, 11 South La Salle street, of $1,400 on Feb. 21, and A. H. Witkowski & Co., 58 West Washington street, on Feb. 26 of $1,700.

McCabe is said to be a bond jumper who was to have gone to Joliet last Friday. McKee is a parole violator from prison at Green Bay, Wis. They are believed to have staged several gem robberies in Milwaukee.

BANDIT "SHEBA" PLEADS GUILTY; YOUTH IS FREED

Miss Elizabeth Sullivan, known familiarly as "Honey" Sullivan, leader of a gang of youthful bandits, formerly operating in Evanston and other north shore towns, entered a plea of guilty to an indictment charging conspiracy to commit robbery before Judge John R. Caverly yesterday.

Appears Against Youth.

Following her plea the young woman took the stand and appeared against Thomas Gash, another member of the band on trial for robbery. The jury found him not guilty. Gash testified that while he was out with other members of the gang when they robbed a furniture store, he did not go inside the store and was not aware they were there for the purpose of robbery.

Five Pleaded Guilty.

Five other members of the band have entered pleas of guilty to the charge. Two were placed on probation by the court. Miss Sullivan will appear as a witness in another case within a few days and then will be sentenced.

Demands Spain Punish

Leaders in Morocco Fiasco

CORUNNA, Spain, March 6.—Speaking on the subject of responsibility for the Moroccan disaster, Alejandro Lerroux, the radical leader, declared the existing régime had failed in every phase of its activities, while the army had displayed incapacity, both in Cuba and Morocco. He contended that all those to blame for the Moroccan breakdown should be punished.

HUSBAND'S RIVAL ORDERED TO STAY OUT OF ILLINOIS

"The defendant came to Chicago with Mrs. Donahue from Buffalo to make Chicago a cesspool," declared Charles C. Bombaugh, city attorney, when Robert W. Hellone, of Buffalo, was arraigned before Judge Daniel P. Trude yesterday on complaint of Raymond C. Donahue, who alleged that Hellone had run away with his wife.

"You mean he came here to contribute to the cesspool that is already here," replied Judge Trude.

Hellone was arrested with Mrs. Donahue in an apartment at 3016 Ainslie street. He was put on probation for one year and ordered to leave the state.

THOUSANDS OWE

SKIN HEALTH TO

FAMOUS POSLAM

"Poslam? Why, that's what healed my skin!" That is why thousands and thousands would say if you asked them about that famous skin treatment.

It acts quickly and surely on eczema, rashes and such tormenting eruptions, stopping the itching and smarting from the first application, and rapidly restoring skin health.

But effective as Poslam is, it is made of the gentlest, safest things, nothing in it that could irritate the tenderest, most inflamed skin, even of a tiny baby.

Poslam Soap, medicated with Poslam, does wonders for poor complextions.

Emergency Laboratories, New York, N. Y.

Provision of a "Big Brother" for every boy discharged from the Chicago and Cook County School for Boys at Riverdale was decided upon last night at an all-Chicago council meeting of the Kiwanis clubs.

The plan was proposed by G. B. Stephenson, chief executive of the Boy Scouts, and O. J. Millikan, superintendent of the school.

Approximately 500 boys leave this school every year. If his conduct later warrants it, the boy will be recommended to the nearest Boy Scout troop for membership.

Court Impounds Autos of Convicted Speeders

Cleveland, O., March 6.—Nine motorists found guilty of speeding and given workhouse sentences in Municipal Judge Silbert's court today, accepted the court's alternative of having their automobiles impounded.

GIRL REJECTED RIOTER'S OFFER OF LOCK OF HAIR

'Saved My Life,' Witness
Says at Herrin Trial.

Marion, Ill., March 6.—(Special.)—An offer of a lock of hair to be cut from one of the nonunion men's red locks was refused by a Williamson county girl during the Herrin massacre, according to evidence in the second massacre trial now in progress.

Otis Lawrence, 22, a locomotive fireman for the Lester mine, who escaped injury in the massacre, told how his hair was wavy and, pointing out Defendant Philip Fontanetta in the courtroom, said:

"When we passed some girls on the side of the road he pointed to my hair that was sticking up and said, 'Do you want a lock when I bump him off?' They said, 'No.'"

"What happened then?" asked Assistant Attorney General Glenn.

"He pulled out a gun, pointed it at my head, and said, 'I think I'll shoot it off, anyway.'"

"One of the mob then said, 'Don't do it; you may shoot one of our own men.'"

Describes Death March.

Lawrence, a handsome youth, who was born in Kentucky but joined the Lester nonunion mine forces, was in the line of march, he said, and testified that at the power house the leader started to take them out in groups of four and kill them one at a time. At that time, he said, a car came up containing a man whom "he mob called the 'president'" but whom he did not see and could not identify. According to other testimony, Hugh Willis, a state miners' official and defendant, drove up at that place.

Lawrence said he heard his men say that they could not kill the men on the highway but to take them into the woods and "shoot them at once and send it away in a body." Following that the nonunion prisoners were taken into the woods and the slaughter followed.

Says Clark Said, "Kill All."

He said he fell down at the fence, but jumped up and fled down a railroad track, where he hid in some bushes until night, walking into Herrin then and getting out of the county. The witness also pointed out Otis Clark as making a speech to "kill all" and assuming command of the prisoners at Grenshaw crossing. He said Clark was one of the two men to lead Supt. C. K. McDowell away from the line of march before they reached the power house.

James Brown, the colored man, whom he identified by having a portion of his ear missing, was said by the witness to have used an army steel helmet to pound the prisoners over the head with.

Judge Hartwell today ruled that John Pittman, a pumpman, could not testify for the state because his name was not certified to the defense as a witness until Monday. Pittman was to have testified as to who fired the first shots, the union or nonunion men.

Protest Student's Testimony.

Fred G. Harrison, University of Illinois student, who testified in the first trial concerning Grace with the general conspiracy, was upon the stand at adjournment time. The defense objected to his testifying upon the grounds that his testimony tended to show that Bert Grace was connected with a conspiracy after death of the riot victims. Judge Hartwell took the objection under advisement.

at hand to give relief. And after two or three days you get over it. It took that time for the stomach to right itself naturally. But why go through such misery? If you have one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating your cat have pie and cheese, dumplings, baked beans, steak and fried onions, sausage and so on for your three meals a day and not have a sour stomach with gas, belching, fullness, pressure and the misery that comes from an acid stomach due to indigestion. The reason is that these tablets supply the stomach with an alkaline effect that neutralizes the acid, hence the stomach becomes calm and sweet. If you fear you are a chronic dyspeptic and afraid to eat, get a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets of any drugstore and get back into your eating stride.

NEW YORK PLAY CALLED OBSCENE; 4 ARE INDICTED

'God of Vengeance' Is Under Fire.

New York, March 6.—(Special.)—Testimony that "The God of Vengeance," a play now at the Apollo theater, is obscene, resulted today in indictments against fourteen persons associated with the production.

Bench warrants were issued by Judge Crane in General Sessions and were given to detectives of the district attorney's office to serve. No names were revealed pending arrests, which will be made tomorrow.

Schildkraut the Star.

Sholom Ash is the author of the play and Rudolph Schildkraut is the star. The indictment was returned on the grounds that the play violates Section 1140 A of the penal law, which relates to immoral theatrical productions.

August W. Glatzmeier, commissioner of licenses, said today that no steps could be taken to revoke the license until after the charges against the play had had a hearing in court.

Yesterday and today Mr. Schildkraut, the manager of the Apollo theater, and all members of the cast appeared before the grand jury. The jury also was furnished with copies of the script.

Story of the Play.

"The God of Vengeance" deals with the tragic destiny of an old Jew, keeper of a brothel, who sees his own daughter enmeshed in the evil influences surrounding his household. When it was first produced at the Provincetown Players' old theater in MacDougal street the critics agreed that the piece was a bit elemental in its dealing with sex, but the consensus gave it high rank on artistic grounds.

The elder Schildkraut gave a moving interpretation of the old brothel keeper, the critics said, especially in the tragic denouement in the last act.

Sholom Ash, the playwright, is known on the continent for a number of noteworthy dramas, but Americans have heard of him only through the Yiddish theaters on the lower east side and George Jean Nathan.

GENOA, Italy, March 6.—The notorious bolshevik revolutionary, Jonathan Radinovich of Moscow, has been arrested at Nervi, a few miles from Genoa, and taken to the Swiss frontier and expelled. Radinovich posed as a fur dealer, but in reality he was a leader of the center revolutionaries.

Other Russians of the same type tried to spread the bolshevik movement here before the advent of the fascists, and it is expected that some of them will be placed under arrest and deported.

The Big American Novel of 1923

The Hawkeye by Herbert Quick

A story of pioneers, fighting for life on the prairies; of marauding Indians; of bandits and horse thieves and hoodling politics; of brave women and beautiful girls.

The story of Fremont McConkey, the clodhopper poet; of Catherine Ashe and her sisters; of the Bushyagers, whose horses bore many brands; of Raws Upright and his gang of grafters.

It is adventure and romance and history.

The Hawkeye is better than Mr. Quick's "Vandemark's Folly," which the critics pronounced the best novel of 1922 after its serial appearance in THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

It is beyond question the greatest American novel that will be published this year.

Don't miss the first of six generous installments—read the March LADIES' HOME JOURNAL!

Church

The ringing of the church bell, or the trick of an imitation stick of chewing gum—which would attract you to church? Sensationalism or the Word of God—which would you rather hear?

How should the Church advertise? is a vital question, but the grotesque methods that are being used in many places are merely cheapening religion.

Read Charles A. Selden's article, "Advertising the Church," in the March Journal.

Harry Emerson Fosdick writes about A High Opinion of Oneself.

William Lyon Phelps tells stories of Hawthorne that you have never heard before.

Senator Royal S. Copeland warns America of The Advancing Plagues of Eastern Europe—the typhus and cholera and bubonic plague that have killed millions in Russia.

Other articles of surpassing interest by Mrs. John King Van Rensselaer, Walter Damrosch, Alice Ames Winter and Sarah D. Lowrie.

Fashions

Before you get your new hat and new dress for Easter see the March Journal. Among the new fashions shown in it are:

The dress made of a shawl.
The sports dress with a cape back.
The new flounced frock.

The dress with a matching scarf.
The skirt with flat back and full front.
The dress with six pockets.

Two pages of French hats, chosen by a jury of great Paris milliners as best for spring. Irene Castle wears them.

Last-minute cables from The Journal's Paris office, telling of lines and linings, sleeves, waistlines, colors, fabrics and trimmings.

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL makes fashions!

If you buy your clothes ready-made, read The Journal's fashion news pages; if you make your own, you can use its patterns with confidence.

Clothes that are made after Journal fashions will be in style for at least two years.

Fiction

The Harp and the Triphammer, by Walter B. Pitkin—The love story of a girl that took her halfway round the world.

Snake and Hawk, by Stephen Vincent Benet—A romance of the Spanish main—ships and a girl and gold doubloons.

Little Winged Birds So Happy, by Sophie Kerr—The story of a family-ridden woman's rebellion, with a moral for a good many wives.

And other stories of more than usual distinction by Zane Grey, Eleanor Hallowell Abbott, Corra Harris, Mateel Howe Farnham and Samuel Scoville, Jr.

For the housekeeper there are forty new recipes, together with a dozen new kitchen utensils, a page of spring garden plans and Housekeeping in the Little House, by Alice Van Leer Carrick.

VICE CRUSADERS TAKE THEIR WOES TO SPRINGFIELD

Would Make Cabs "Vice Dens" on Wheels.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Springfield, Ill., March 6.—[Special].—Chicago's anti-vice crusaders turned toward Springfield today to ask the general assembly for more drastic laws for the suppression of commercialized vice and private iniquity. The proposed legislation, sponsored by Jesse Binford, head of the Juvenile Protective association, was introduced in the house by Sidney Lyon (Rep., Chicago).

The measures are intended to reach not only every cove in the city but also the property owner to taxicab driver who transports patrons to resorts but to the private flat of the demimonde and her consort.

Heavy Penalty Asked.
A penalty of one year in the House of Correction and an additional fine of $1,000 is provided for violation of the proposed act. The bills are the most drastic of their kind ever proposed in an Illinois legislature, so drastic in fact that their constitutionality was questioned. Taxicabs and other public conveyances, under the terms of the bills, could be classified as resorts on wheels.

The legislature returned to its job today after a ten day recess over the municipal primaries. Forty new bills were introduced in the house alone, and everything on the house calendar was advanced to the order of a new reading until Adj. Gen. Black's deficiency appropriation of $129,418 came up for passage. It was blocked by Democratic opposition led by Representative Igou of Chicago. Mr. Igou demanded strict adherence to the rules and the bill went over until tomorrow.

Gun Toting Bills Delayed.
Because of the illness of Chairman Cattle of the house judiciary committee the joint hearing scheduled for today on all pending "gun toting" legislation was postponed until next Tuesday.

Substitution of electrocution for hanging as the death penalty in Illinois is provided in a bill introduced by Representative Lager (Dem., Clinton).

Representative Pierce (Rep., Boone) introduced a bill creating a state commission to regulate the steel industry to the extent of abolishing "Pittsburgh plus."

Protest Federal Prison.
A protest to congress against establishment of a federal penitentiary or penal institution of any kind at Camp Grant is made in a resolution to be introduced tomorrow by Representative Pierce.

A bill by Representative Gallas (Dem., Chicago) provides for four years terms for Chicago aldermen instead of two years. The bill provides for immediate application of the law to give aldermen elected this year the benefit.

Pensions for state civil service employees, after they reach the age of 55 and have served the state twenty years, are provided in a measure introduced by Representative Dahlberg (Rep., Chicago).

Ronalds (Rep., Saline) would create a state insurance fund for the payment of workmen's compensation.

BURGLED GET 150 DRESSES.
Burglars entered the dress shop of Friedman & Grossman, 2831 Broadway, early yesterday, taking away 150 silk dresses valued at $3,000.

U. S. JUDGE RESTORES SACRAMENTAL WINE TO "TRAPPED" DEALER

Fifteen hundred gallons of sacramental wine—$9,000 worth at astronomical prices—were ordered restored to Morris Pessin, a wine dealer, yesterday by Federal Judge Wilkerson.

According to evidence presented in court, prohibition agents entered Pessin's store at 1920 Washburne avenue last July and represented themselves as coming from one of the seven congregations of the city.

A little later the agents reappeared with search warrants and seized the wine. The owner's waiting proved not in vain, for subsequently he succeeded in having the search warrant quashed. Yesterday's arguments purporting to show that Pessin had been entrapped completed the victory.

"DR." WITKOWSKI, SINGING RUBBER, HAS CLOSE RUB

"Stay in Indiana with your rubbering or we will rub you," was the warning given Dr. A. Witkowski of Hammond, Ind., when he was fined the court costs yesterday by Municipal Judge Anna G. Adams for violation of the medical practices act. Witkowski produced a diploma from the American College of Therapeutics and testified that he had been a physician in the Russian army. Two witnesses testified to the efficacy of the doctor's rubbering, accompanied by incantations. Later they proved to be disciples of Witkowski.

Righeimer's Election Aid Transfers Jobs

BILL PROHIBITS FIXING BUILDING MATERIAL PRICES

Drastic Measure Is Offered in Senate.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Springfield, Ill., March 6.—[Special].—As the result of the investigation of the building industry by a state commission a year ago Senator John Dailley of Peoria, chairman of the investigating commission, introduced a bill in the senate tonight which aims at prohibiting price fixing of all kinds in building materials. The investigation disclosed, it is said, an indirect form of price fixing, manipulated through associations of manufacturers and contractors.

The Dailley bill makes illegal every contract or combination in the form of a trust or otherwise or every restraint of trade or commerce in Illinois. It is made unlawful for persons or associations to fix prices on commodities or to enter into contracts whereby purchasers agree not to use supplies of competitors.

Price Lists Made Unlawful.
The circulation or publication of price lists or statements showing cost of products, units of cost and average sales, is made unlawful. Even the filing of cost data is prohibited.

Senator Dailley also attacked the Pittsburgh plus problem. In a bill introduced he seeks the appointment of a committee to protect the interests of the state and the people "against the trade practice known as Pittsburgh plus or other similar trade practices."

This commission would consist of one senator, one member of the house of representatives, one representative of the American Farm Bureau federation, a representative of the Western Association of Rolled Steel Consumers, one manufacturer who consumes rolled steel products.

Power of Committee.
The committee would have power to intervene or to initiate and prosecute proceedings before any court or commission in the state or federal jurisdiction. Reports and information would be printed and sent out, and speakers would be appointed to tell farmers and laborers their rights and inform them of the nature and effect of such trade practices.

HARDING EAGER FOR END OF R. R. SHOPMEN STRIKE

Sees No Reason for Men
Holding Out.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—President Harding has informed officials of the railway shop crafts that he can see no adequate question of principle which warrants a further delay in settlement in all districts of last summer's shopmen's strike.

In a letter written just before he left Washington for Florida, and made public today at the White House, the President declared that "a majority of the interests involved," by their refusal to settle, were "largely responsible" for interrupted coal deliveries and other unsatisfactory railway conditions in certain parts of the country.

Sends Autographed Photograph.

The President's letter was in response to one from Stephen E. Connor, secretary of the Federated Shop Crafts, Central Railroad of New Jersey, and was as follows:

"Your letter of March 3 comes to hand just as I am about leaving for the south, but I am glad of the opportunity it affords me to express my sentiment on this subject. You tell me that the shop crafts of the New Jersey Central railroad are staging a relief fund movement, and ask me to send my autographed photograph. I am gladly complying.

"It is occasion of intense regret that the settlement of the shop crafts strike, which has been effected on the latter part of the railroad systems and the mileage of the country, has not been found possible on all the rest.

Rape Minority Rule.

"I do not find myself able to discern any adequate question of principle which could justify a minority of the interests involved in this distressing situation in refusing to make settlements similar to those which have been made by the majority. The information which reaches me brings the conviction that continued failure to make settlement is largely responsible for unfortunate conditions as to railroad movements in some areas, and for interrupted deliveries of coal during the winter, with resultant suffering to many communities and much demoralization to industry. It is a situation which seems certain to become more serious unless effective measures are found for the early amelioration."

40 BOY SCOUTS TO STRAIGHTEN 300 ROAD SIGNS

Forty Boy Scouts of the south shore district started out yesterday on the job of straightening crooked street signs in the area between State street and Cottage Grove avenue and between 67th and 79th streets. More than 200 of these signs are so twisted that it is impossible to tell in which direction they point.

"This job that the Scouts volunteered to do for their city is an illustration of the civic pride that becomes part of a boy after he has taken the Scout oath and comes under the influence of the organization," said Barrett Wendell. Mr. Wendell is chairman of the committee of the Chicago council of the Boy Scouts, which starts its campaign on March 26 to raise $115,000 to extend the Scout organization in this city.

BOARD ORDERS VACATIONS FOR RAIL WORKERS

Hope that the United States railroad labor board will make it universally mandatory upon railways to allow employees vacations and sick leaves, with full pay, was kindled among labor leaders yesterday when the board issued an order for such concessions to clerks and freight handlers on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railway. The order, regarded as a precedent, stipulates that workers of this class who have been with the road one year shall be granted a vacation of six working days, two years' service nine working days, and three years twelve days. The same provisions are to apply to sick leaves.

It is important to feed the school child correctly

THE school years are the formative years of a child's life. Every mother has it in her power to bring out the best in her child.

Early establishing of correct food and health habits is the foundation of his career.

It is not likely that your child will excel in school and lead among his play fellows if his diet is all wrong.

The growing body craves certain elements. These are readily supplied in Borden's Chocolate Malted Milk, the new food beverage.

Chocolate Malted Milk has the food value of the plain kind with which everybody is familiar. But it is also richly flavored with chocolate, which makes it much more popular with children, and indeed with about 90% of their elders!

Borden's Chocolate Malted Milk is highly digestible. It puts no tax on young stomachs. It contributes essential body-building material in its most easily assimilated form.

This delicious new food beverage should be added to your child's diet and served as often as once a day. It is simple and easy to prepare even at the hurried breakfast hour.

Get a package from your grocer or druggist. The ingredients are already mixed together. All you have to do is to make a paste of three heaping teaspoonfuls of the powder and a little cold milk. Add milk to fill the glass and shake well, or beat with the egg beater.

Or if you want it hot, mix the milk and the paste and boil up two or three times.

Serve this nutritious drink in place of tea, coffee, cocoa, and even milk. It has more food value than any of them—and absolutely no harmful ingredient.

Power Clothed With Beauty

also a Phaeton
at $1485

So graceful in appearance that you marvel at its strength; so sturdy in construction that you wonder at its speed and power—that is the new Kissel model "Fifty-five" Brougham Sedan.

Seventeen years of advance designing are responsible for the slender beauty of the Brougham; but the sure hands of craftsmen skilled in fine coach work have built into it strength that ensures years of comfort and trouble-free service.

The Brougham Sedan is of distinctive, yet conservative, design; its body is custom-built by the standards for which Kissel is noted; in equipment and appointments it knows few equals in the world of closed cars.

And beneath this handsome exterior; similar skill and experience have built both power and dependability—power from the new Kissel motor, which lifts this car from 5 to 60 miles an hour in 30 seconds without the usual vibration; dependability that can come only from correct engineering, perfect balance and exact fitting.

The Custom-Built Six of 1923 has all the exclusive features of former Kissels—special frame design, automatic oil control, thermostat, patented spring sideplay adjustment, bronze graphited bushings on all moving chassis parts. Yet production in quantity has made possible substantially lower prices on all models.

Ask for a demonstration of this Custom-Built Six. Then consider it as a value in terms of price.

THE GUMPS—FROZEN, THOUGH FASHIONABLE

The Leopardess

BY KATHERINE NEWLIN BURT

SYNOPSIS.
Ollala, born of Scotch parents, lived with her father on one of the islands of the South seas. Her mother had died when she was a tiny child, and her father had married one of the native women of the island. Ollala grew up like a native child. Eyoa, a native girl, attacks Ollala in a fit of jealousy. Eyoa, the cause of Eyoa's jealousy, was Ollala. Eyoa, a native girl, attacks Ollala in a fit of jealousy. Eyoa, the cause of Eyoa's jealousy, was Ollala. Eyoa, a native girl, attacks Ollala in a fit of jealousy. Eyoa, the cause of Eyoa's jealousy, was Ollala.

INSTALLMENT III.
SCOTT CARRIES OFF OLLALA.
"Come to me here tomorrow at this place at this same time. I will be ready then. It needs a preparation. I must think. Yes, tomorrow, here at this place and time."

She was waiting for him when on the next morning he came back. She was shaking and wan. In her hand she held a long, bright, silken strand of hair; the tangle she had drawn from her head last night when at length she slept. And here it was now. "I will make for you the image," her supple fingers worked the hair into the wax, and began to shape out the body of Ollala.

"But you're an artist, Mamoe!" Quag exclaimed, admiringly. He had by now guessed her intention, for he was well read in contagious and imitative magic, in totem and taboo, and such dark tribal matters of belief and fear.

"Now I will teach you what to say," whispered Mamoe, and, swaying to and fro, she began the horrid incantation: "As you waste away, may she waste away; as this wound you, may it wound her."

Quag repeated it after her, smiling. But Mamoe shook and paled.

"May the loving Lord of my lord forgive me!" she kept saying, anxiously. "You will be good to the girl!"

"On my honor," Quag promised, "I will be as gentle as a south wind. Only get her to come with me. Her hatred will be quickly tamed to loving."

Mamoe nodded. "So it is with women," she agreed.

"She is really afraid of all this!" he asked, doubtfully, and was reassured by Mamoe's extravagant gesture. Certainly her own terror was convincing, but—how white, after all, was Ollala?

"Be sure to keep the waxen figure in your own keeping, Mr. Quag," Mamoe warned him, "if she captures it from you, she will be free again."

"I'll guard it like my eyesight," promised Quag.

Mamoe came running to Ollala from the woods. She fell at the girl's feet.

"Have pity—do not let the fire eat me."

He, and caressed her knees with shaking hands. There was no affection in her terror, for the mummy of Quag was real to her as torment.

"I have seen a dreadful thing," she whined in the native speech. "Down in the woods the white man has built a fire, and there he has made an image with wax and a strand of your hair—for what hair but yours, Ollala, is red in the sun?"

Ollala felt her flowing mane and her hand stiffened on the shortened lock. "See, he has put it off when you were not looking, and he is making a spell. Ollala, run, beseech him, before your body is eaten with the fierce pain of fire."

Ollala gave one little plaintive shriek, rocked her head against Mamoe's breast, then, staggering up, she stumbled off in the direction Mamoe pointed and where already there was climbing up a thin, dark thread of smoke above the trees.

Under the palm shadows in an open place like the court of a columned temple Quag cowered with serious face and folded arms. Ollala fell down on her knees, because at sight of him all her strength had left her. Her eyes were now intent on that waxen figure through which the ruddy hairs gleamed visibly. All her body winced in expectation of agony.

"Have pity—do not let the fire eat me. That hurts too much. I have seen it. Take off your curse. Take off your curse. Then, looking despair up into his hard face, she whispered, bending down her head until her hair lay across the ground: "Tell me—what—I must do."

Quag looked down at the cowering golden figure. "If you do not wish to be melted away in fire, Ollala, you must be my woman and come quietly with me on board my ship."

"O, yes, yes, yes," she wailed, abjectly, without any hesitation or delay.

He went over and took the puppet up in his hand, she trembling and wincing as though he had touched her, and, wrapping a big leaf about it, he stowed it carefully away inside the breast of his shirt.

"You see, I will carry you on my heart."

He lifted her. She was covered, forehead and hands and breast, with beads of sweat from her agony; half-dread of physical pain, half the dark terror of sorcery. She held his hand tightly in both of hers. Under the pressure of her superstitious fear she seemed to have forgotten, temporarily, her hatred for him.

"Now we shall go straight to your father," he said. "If you do not obey the deity," his hand touched the lump which showed its outlines through the shirt, and again Ollala shrank and winced away.

"O, I will obey—I will obey."

"Good. Then I am your man—your master?"

"O, yes."

To give Quag his devil's due, he was half play acting. It was not so much physical submission his familiar demon craved from a woman, he wanted spiritual dominance of which he believed a weak and craven man would allow himself to be robbed. He had memories of his broken and cowering father, sharp recollections of his mother's lashing humiliations of his own proud and sensitive youth which subconsciously continually whined to be avenged.

Before nightfall Ollala was married with strange native ceremonies, and the said good-by to her father, shaking, and who was as nearly his friend as any human being, accepted with eagerness an invitation to visit him on his Hudson river country place, which, for an estate of a thousand acres of virgin forest, lake, and stream, was unpretentiously named "The Leopardess."

The newspaper, a month or two before, had blazed with an sensational headline: "Scott Quag brings home for his house pet an African leopardess and for his wife a Hindu girl. Will New York society be willing to accept a native of the South Pacific islands as Mrs. Quag?" etc.

Thus the newspaper reporters upon Ollala's tragedy. As for Scott Quag, he was well amused. His private life had become suddenly absorbing, exciting, and he was well amused. His private life had become suddenly absorbing, exciting, and he was well amused.

Here's a Good Picture and Lots of It

Extreme Length Is Only Fault of 'Adam's Rib.'

"ADAM'S RIB."
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Cecil B. De Mille.
Presented at McVicker's Theater.
The Cast:
Milton Sills, Elliott Dexter, and Anna Q. Nilsson are also remarkably well cast. The supporting players know their business.
The photography is splendid. When Mr. De Mille comes to understand the value of brevity as well as he does effects, he will have made a big stride forward.
See you tomorrow!

By Mae Tiné.
Good morning!
(One sheik to another: "There goes a classy rib!")
It seems, rib—our ladies, as I would have said before witnessing this picture—that throughout the ages we've always been just as we are now. We've been fond, foolish, bawdy, for punishment; babies when we receive it; illogical; undisciplined—but, after all, quite pleasing and necessary adjuncts since the day Adam took twilight sleep and lost the part of his anatomy that became U.S.

This is what Mr. De Mille would tell us in his new production, which is typically De Mille in its ultra gorgeousness, in its similarity to the orator who knows how to orate, but who DOESN'T know when to stop, putting into ten thousand words what one thousand could carry beautifully.

The story is a lovely woman, nearing 40; her husband, her daughter, her lover, and her daughter's fiancé. The lady yearns for romance, which the husband, busy acquiring millions, neglects to provide. When a husband forgets about moonlight and wedding anniversaries, there's always somebody else in the case, where a rib is any rib at all—right at hand to feed her starved heart and imagination. So—

One glance at the cast will prove the presence of a number of favorites. Pauline Garon, not so well known, you'll be keen to see again! She's a little peach and does some regular acting!
Milton Sills, Elliott Dexter, and Anna Q. Nilsson are also remarkably well cast. The supporting players know their business.
The photography is splendid. When Mr. De Mille comes to understand the value of brevity as well as he does effects, he will have made a big stride forward.

Melody Memory Contest Started by Russian Opera

BY EDWARD MOORE.
Following up the suggestion made in this column two days ago, Sol Hurok, manager of the Russian Grand Opera company at the Auditorium, sends word that he is offering five cash prizes aggregating $100 to the patron who can identify the greatest number of melodies in "A Night of Love," the gayest item in all the company's repertoire.

As was told before, "A Night of Love," or "Notch Lubvy," if you insist upon the Russian, is a farcical bit of light opera, set to tunes gathered from many sources of opera and operetta. It is not published, in fact the Russian Grand Opera company possesses the only score in existence, so all contestants must depend upon their memories. There will be a first prize of $50, a second of $25, a third of $15, and two more of $5 each.
"A Night of Love" will be played to-night, again Saturday night, and several times next week. The contest will close Friday night, March 18.
Send answers to S. Hurok, Russian Grand Opera company, contest department, Auditorium theater. Do not send them to this paper.

Hawthorne Band Pleases

Another enterprise in the music of commerce gave itself public display last night when the Western Electric band appeared at Orchestra hall. It is, like many others of its kind, an amateur organization in the sense that its members find their chief employment in work other than music. In this case they come from the firm at Hawthorne whose name the band bears.

Outside of that fact the band is hardly amateur at all. There are fifty or more musicians, directed by V. J. Rabel, who has developed their talent into a smoothly working, mellow, and precise organization, capable of giving due value to such music as the overture to "The Merry Widow," and then turning into a Sousa march with all the snappy rhythm that makes that kind of a piece good to hear. Frank Simon, cornetist, was the soloist, and there was further diversity to the program in the singing of the Hawthorne Glee club.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Mrs. Allie E. Bailey is a Chicago director of the Fashion Art League of America and not Mrs. Allie E. Bailey, as stated in THE TRIBUNE yesterday.

In the account in THE TRIBUNE yesterday of the finding of a wallet containing $12,000 by two detectives on their way to execute a warrant, and their return of it to its owners, the names of the officers were omitted. They were Sergeants Michael Trant and John Noonan of the detective bureau.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.
The Tribune will pay $5 each for questions accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your questions to "The Inquiring Reporter, Chicago Tribune." For today's question: Mrs. E. W. Jones, 222 South Dennis avenue, Decatur, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.

What do you consider the most ridiculous fad you ever saw women follow?

Where Asked.

Wabash avenue, at Madison street.

The Answers.

Mrs. Frances Grodzke, 5640 West North avenue, housewife—There are lots of things you could answer to that. I have daughters myself, and they paint and powder—not too much, just what they think is enough. To me those Spanish, oriental, dancing, tantalizing ear rings are about the limit in absurdity.

Joseph F. Starman, 1225 Oak Park avenue, real estate—

Gosh, there are so many of them. It seems they don't care for anything but their reputation to be dressed in the latest style. I guess bobbed hair and extreme short skirts are about their most ridiculous stunts.

Still, we can't get along without 'em. Mrs. E. E. Maher, 5502 Everett avenue, housewife—Well, it seems to me the wearing of "knickers" is the most ridiculous fad I can recall. If only the young and beautifully formed girls wore them it would be all right, perhaps, but you see all kinds of shapes, sizes, and ages.

Andrew A. Fowler, 7011 Perry avenue, salesman—The most ridiculous habit women have—not all of them, thank goodness—is the heavy use of paint and powder.

Some of them look as though the clowns had broken loose from the circus.

Miss Estelle Greider, 1511 North Avers avenue, waitress—

The long skirts. They are ridiculous when so long. Ankle length is about right. Men don't like them too long. Men are pretty good judges of what looks well on women, and I think we should try to dress to please them. We try to do that in every other way.

Moscow Art Theater Will Visit Chicago

Famous Russians Coming Next Month.

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

The Moscow Art theater, generally esteemed to be the greatest acting organization in the world, is coming to Chicago. Arrangements for its visit are incomplete, but that the company will be seen here was assured yesterday by Morris Gest in a telegram to a group of local enthusiasts who propose to sponsor the trip. Mr. Gest will come to town tomorrow to discuss details.

A brief engagement, at a theater yet to be named, probably will begin early in April.

The players' appearances in New York, which will continue until March 31, have constituted the most profound theatrical sensation in recent years. Manhattan has gone wild over them, and printed discussion of their prowess has involved unbelievable millions of words.

When they came to this country it was specified by the Russian government that they must be back in Moscow by the first of May. There was no intention, therefore, of their visiting any American city aside from New York. A group of about thirty Chicagoans, however, organized with the determination of bringing them here and sent Mrs. Sherwood Anderson, wife of the novelist, as an emissary to plead their cause.

She was told that the trip could not be made unless the Moscow authorities could be induced to extend their leave of absence. Mr. Gest called a request for this, and his telegram implies that he has been successful. No doubt the company's amazing prosperity in America thus far had something to do with this.

The players, all equal in rank and with no "stars" among them, are under government direction and are headed by M. Constantin Stanislavsky, who launched the Moscow Art theater in 1898. They bring a repertoire of six plays—Count Tolstoy's "War and Peace," "The Cherry Orchard," "The Lower Depths," Anton Tchekhov's "The Cherry Orchard" and "The Three Sisters," Fyodor Dostoevsky's "The Brothers Karamazov" and Ivan Turgenev's "The Lady From the Provinces."

THIRTEEN NOTES.

"The Blimp" will wind up its earthly career on Saturday night. The blimp will disband, and the Olympic left with nothing else in view, will be dark for two weeks pending the arrival of Thurston, the magician, on March 25.

"The Slaveholder," something more about the dope habit, written by Norman Houston and Sam Forrest and with Miss Mary Ryan in its leading role, looms as a possibility for the Selwyn when "Partners Again" leaves at the end of this month. It is being tested in Baltimore this week. If it does not come up to specifications Mrs. Petrova may occupy the Selwyn with her new play, "Hurricane." She probably will not go to the Court, as previously announced.

The company of colored players which uplifted the drama at the Avenue theater on the south side until disaster overtook it, will give a benefit performance of Wilde's "Salome" at the Olympic tomorrow afternoon. Various actors and sundry members of the Drama league have promised to be present.

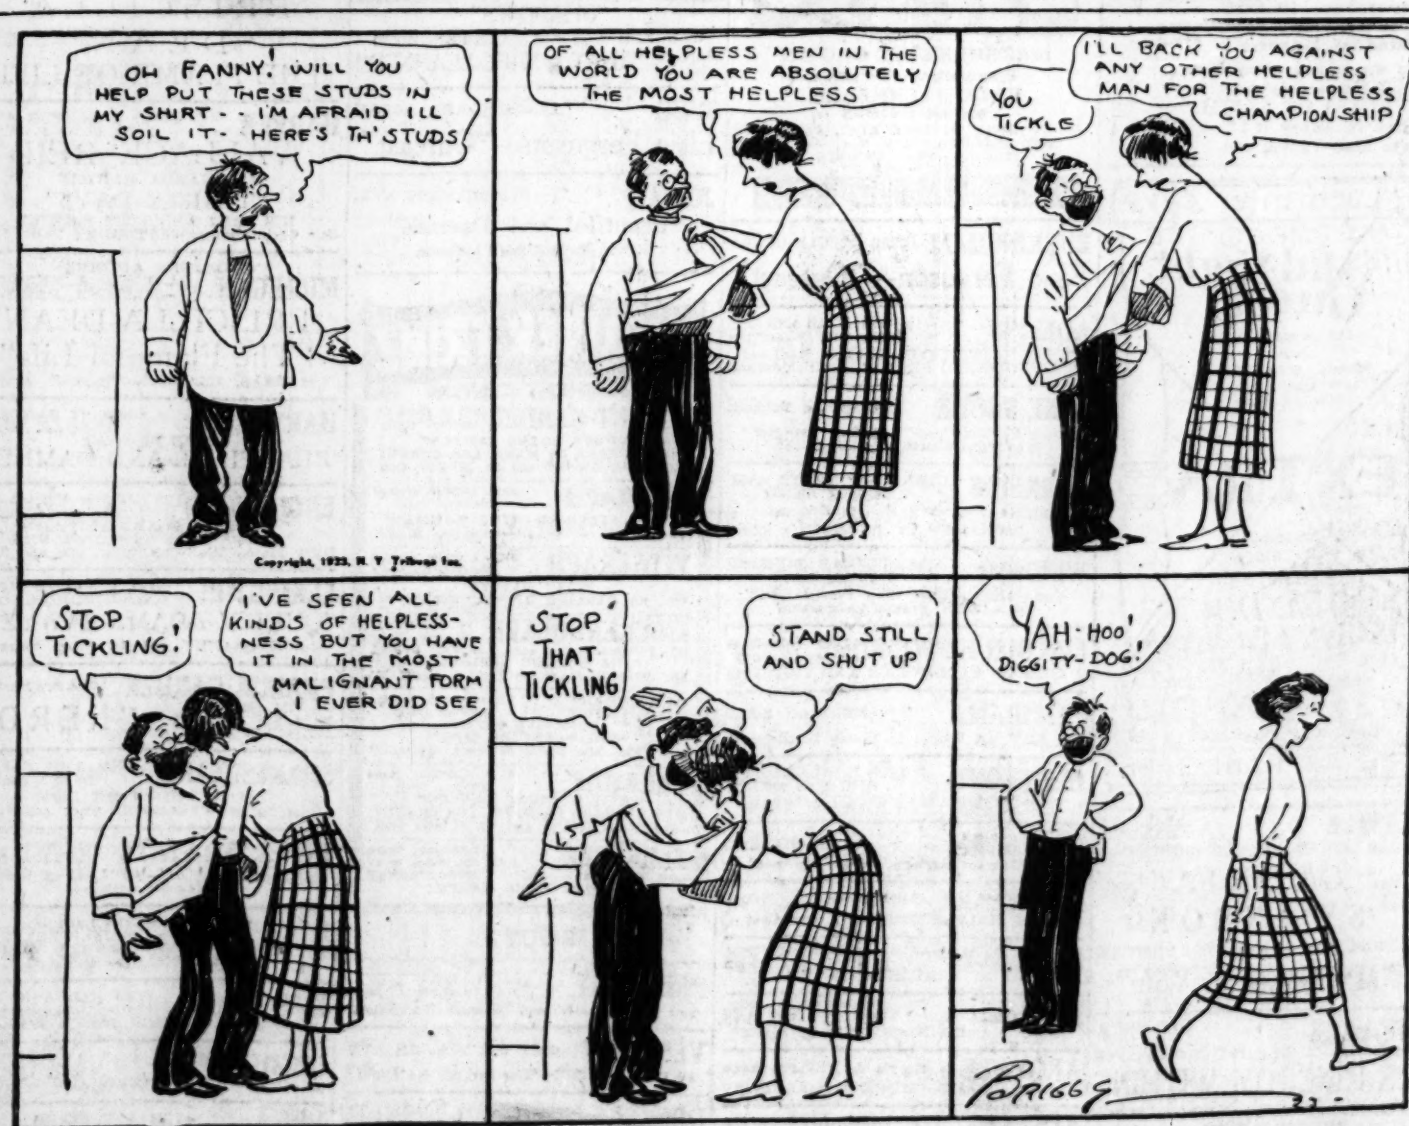

What he saw was no longer an offended girl, but a shivering fellow creature, blue with cold.

The New York Times

NEW YORK, March 6.—(Special.)—Today's movement of the various markets was not at all uniform. It comprised an extremely irregular stock market, which ended with a confusion of net advances and net declines; a bond market almost equally uncertain in trend, yet with somewhat positive strength in Liberty bonds, and the reaching of 31½ a pound for spot cotton.

Cotton has risen in two weeks exactly 2 cents a pound, or 7 per cent. It now stands at the price at which the cotton market halted during eight successive days in September, 1929; one of the longest pauses made in that season of excessively violent reactions.

Professionals in Action.
Most of the activities on today's stock market were traceable to large professional speculators, of whom some were evidently taking speculative profits on a considerable scale, others endeavoring to force a break, and still others, possibly the very experts who were selling out in one quarter of the market, were bidding up prices ostentatiously in another. The upshot of these confused procedures was unusual irregularity of movement. Several industrial shares, mostly of the very speculative sort, were driven up 3 to 5 points, but there were almost equally large declines elsewhere. Total transactions were except for last Friday, the largest in two weeks, but it was not a natural and spontaneous activity.

Foreign Exchange Watched.
Foreign exchange and the foreign securities markets were watched with some interest today because of the cable intimations that the German chancellor's speech to the Reichstag might prove to be a preliminary move toward making terms with France.

None of these markets gave any evidence of expecting an important announcement. Both France and markets were fairly steady at New York, French repurchase bonds were fractionally higher, and prices on the Paris bourse were reported as holding firm. This is no different action from that of half a dozen other recent days.

NEW YORK.—Fruit of the Loom's bleached muslin is advanced 3 cent to 20¢, cents for 36 inch. One line of 3.20 denim now is quoted at 25¢ cents for June-Aug. deliveries.

NEW YORK.—Price for unfinished sheetings are hardening. Trading is active. Some centers asked 15 cents, net, for 36 inch, 50x20, 4,000 yards to the pound.

NEW YORK.—Burlap business was dull today both here and in Calcutta. Quotations here remained nominally unchanged.

Time to Sell Stocks?

You can never guess the answer to this question. You can never know whether prices will be going up or down at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The broad swings of the market—the rises of 50 to 100 points—are governed by the great basic Law of Action-Reaction. They can be forecast with remarkable accuracy.

The position of fundamental conditions shows clearly when stocks should be bought and when they should be sold.

It is the business of The Babson Investors Service to (1) forecast the trend of these fundamentals that govern the speculative market (2) to study each individual issue and to recommend for purchase those stocks selling furthest below their true values; in short to tell you when and what to buy and where to sell.

ECONOMIST'S EYE

MARKET FOR SATURATION

BY O. A. MATHER.

Will the "vicious circle" of advancing living costs and increasing wages, which marked the war and post-war inflation periods and brought on the depression, be repeated in measureable degree this year? This question is increasingly occupying the attention of economists, in view of the recent steady upward trend of commodity prices. It is a question how far simultaneous expansion of production and advancing prices can go before encountering a "saturation point" where there will be a surfeit of goods and a lessened demand, such as developed during the "buyers' strike" in 1920.

There was a general advance in commodity prices of 1 1/2 per cent in February, according to Bradstreet's index. Prices now stand 20 per cent above a year ago, 31 per cent above the low point on June 1, 1921, and slightly more than 2 per cent below the peak on Feb. 1, 1922. The present level per cent above Aug. 1, 1914, the last prewar date.

Woolen Co. Earns $8.63 a Share.

Last year's recovery in the textile industry is indicated in the report of the American Woolen Company. Net earnings after tax and contingent reserves were $2,521,525, compared with $1,212,422 in 1921. After allowing for depreciation, net profits last year were $2,541,601, equivalent after preferred dividends to $3.63 a share on the $10,000,000 common stock, compared with $3.01 a share in 1921. Surplus for 1922 was $2,601,401, against $406,641 in 1921. Total surplus now stands at $2,606,323.

Among the factors that caused a phenomenal increase in wool prices last year, according to President Wood, was the tendency of American wool growers to follow the example set by the British-Australian Wool Realization association in pooling their marketings. Certain classes of wool were scarce, while conditions were increased in Europe and Japan.

Kennecott-Utah Merger Arranged.

The plan of the Kennecott Copper Corporation to take over the Utah Copper Company crystallized yesterday when the Kennecott directors authorized a $2,000,000 stock offering to be offered to Utah stockholders on the basis of 1 1/2 shares of Kennecott for one share of Utah. The Kennecott stockholders will vote on the proposal on April 3. The Kennecott company for several years has held a minority stock interest in the Utah company. The directors of the Utah Copper Company decided on a 100 per cent stock dividend, calling for distribution of $2,000,000 in stock. The Utah Copper Company stockholders voted to increase the non-prior common stock from 260,000 to 600,000 shares, and a 1 per cent stock dividend was declared. The G. W. Helms company reduced its common stock from 100,000 to 125,000 shares, increased the issue from $8,000,000 to $20,000,000, and announced an exchange of four new shares for each share now outstanding.
